CALL MONEY HOLDS
AT 12 PER CENT LEVEL

U. S. Steel Directors Vote to Retire $133,372,000 of 10 to 60 Year 5 Per Cent Bonds of 1963.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Call money held at 12 per cent all day today, but stock prices moved irregularly higher. High priced industrials and utilities were brought forward as leaders in the late trading when several of the rails showed signs of yielding to profit-taking. Trading was moderately heavy in volume, considering the reluctance of many small traders to remain in the market during the period of tight money.

Calling of loans was only moderate in volume, but little hope of any marked relaxation in rates is held out by bankers before the end of the week. Time money rates held firm at 7 1/2 per cent. One of the most significant developments of the day was the report of an unexpected upturn in steel output.

U. S. Steel Calls Bonds.
The mystery surrounding the special meeting of U. S. Steel directors this afternoon was cleared with the announcement that it had been decided to retire $133,372,000 of 10 to 60 year 5 per cent bonds of 1963.

Midland Steel products was run nearly 15 points to 303 3/4, and then eased to 301. General Electric closed 6 points higher at 249. Fleischmann, Bristol Meyers, Consolidated Gas, Crown Cork & Seal, Hershey Chocolate, Louisville Gas & Electric, National Bellas Hess and United Aircraft all closed with net gains of 4 points or more.

Commission houses reported that there had been some falling off in public participation, presumably as a result of the many cautionary advices sent out over the week-end. While a dozen or more pools continued aggressive bidding operations, many more showed evidence of standing on the sidelines until the credit stringency had lifted.

Consolidated Bank Statement.
The consolidated statement of member banks in the Federal Reserve shows few changes of great importance this week. The total of loans and investments reveals a drop of $51,000,000 reflecting a drop of $49,000,000 in loans on securities, and a drop of $22,000,000 in investments.

Commodity prices were mixed. Cotton advanced $2 a bale on more extended trade buying. Wheat dropped 1 1/2 cents a bushel after the violent advance of yesterday and corn futures closed 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents lower.

Except for a further jump of 15 points in Japanese yen, there was little interest in the foreign exchange market, with the principal European rates holding firm.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on Pages 27, 28 and 29.

WILLIS QUILTS AS PRESIDENT OF AUTO FIRM AFTER 21 YEARS

Becomes Chairman of Board of Willis-Overland Co.; L. A. Miller Succeeds Him.

By the Associated Press.
TOLEDO, O., July 16.—The resignation of John North Willis, for more than 21 years president of the Willis-Overland Co., was announced today after a meeting of the board of directors.

Linwood A. Miller, for the last four years first vice president, was elevated to the presidency, Willis remaining as chairman of the board.

Marshall Field and Charles M. Gore, both of Chicago, were elected to the board of directors succeeding C. B. Wilson of Pontiac, Mich., and C. B. Mertz of New York, resigned.

Vice President's Sister Tells Kentucky W. C. T. U. She Refused Liquor at Ambassador's Dinner.

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., July 16.—The dinner given by Sir Esme Howard at the British embassy at Washington recently which decided the social controversy as to where Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister and official hostess of the Vice President, should sit, also disclosed Mrs. Gann's attitude on liquors served at embassy dinners.

The Kentucky Woman's Christian Temperance Union questioned Mrs. Gann and her reply was made public yesterday.

"Did you for the honor and dignity of your country decline liquors at Sir Esme Howard's dinner?" Mrs. Gann was asked.

"I did decline," she replied.

AIRMAN LAND SAFELY WHEN PART OF MOTOR FALLS OFF

Navy Flyers Lose Propeller, One Makes Parachute Leap, Other Brings Plane Down.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Two Navy airmen landed safely today after the front part of their motor and the propeller fell off during parachute testing flights at the Navy yard field here.

It took a bit of adroit flying by Commander O. W. Erickson to bring the disabled biplane down. His observer, L. S. Williams, made possible the feat by going over the side in his parachute. This lightened the tail of the plane, permitted Erickson to right it, and while his eyes glared down, the pilot spiraled and jockeyed his machine to the field.

LAWYER ACCUSED OF HIRING GUNMAN TO KILL BANKRUPT FOR HIS INSURANCE

R. Shad Bennett Offered Him $500 to Murder West Frankfort Meat Man, Informer Says.

PRETENDED TO DO IT TO TRAP THE LAWYER

Alleged Motive Collection on Life Policies Securing $20,000 Debt—Warrant Is Issued.

R. Shad Bennett, well-to-do St. Louis attorney and realty operator, is being sought on a warrant charging him with attempting to murder Owen King, bankrupt meat merchant of West Frankfort, Ill., in an effort to collect two insurance policies for $15,000 each held by Bennett as part security for a $20,000 debt.

Bennett has law offices in the Wainwright Building and occupies a pretentious stone residence at 6200 McPherson avenue. He departed for Florida Saturday, inquirers were told.

A member of a prominent family of Franklin County, Ill., Bennett served a year in the air service during the war and was graduated from Washington University in 1921. In 1925 he married Mrs. Anna M. Atkins, widow of Dr. H. S. Atkins, former Superintendent of the City Sanitarium.

The warrant against Bennett was issued yesterday afternoon at Murphysboro, Ill., by Justice of the Peace Porter on complaint of King. Bennett is thought to have gone to Miami, where he has property interests. He is about 35 years old.

Story Told to Chief Kaiser.
Eight days ago a man, whose name is withheld, walked into the office of Chief of Detectives Kaiser and announced abruptly: "Say, Chief, there's a fellow in this town wants me to kill a guy."

Chief Kaiser recognized his caller as an investigator for lawyers and a private detective on his own account.

"Don't kill the guy," the Chief advised.

The informer then related that a lawyer with offices downtown had "hired" him to kill a stranger, King, his compensation to be $500, payable immediately after the death, and $1000 additional when King's insurance was collected.

$10 for Expenses.
"Have you ever killed a man?" the lawyer is said to have asked.

"Several," the informer said, he replied, whereupon the lawyer gave him $10 for expenses.

The informer said the lawyer had furnished a description of the man to be killed, the make of automobile he drove, and minute directions as to the route to be taken to find the man's home in Carbondale, Jackson County authorities, who did not know King's address at the time, followed the directions and found the man at home. King admitted he had assigned his life insurance policies to the lawyer as part security for a debt.

At a series of conferences participated in by the informer, Police Attorney Miller and Sheriff Flanagan of Jackson County, it was decided to simulate the "murder" of King in order to trap the lawyer.

Accordingly, the "killer" went to Southern Illinois, where he was to carry out the purpose for which he was hired. Then King "disappeared." Thursday while returning to Carbondale from a business trip to Murphysboro, The Sheriff followed this up by announcing for publication that King's car had been found abandoned on the road from Murphysboro with its cushions disarranged and showing evidence of a fierce struggle. Footprints were reported observed near the car. The Sheriff expressed a theory that King had been shot to death, his body being thrown in a river.

Owen King Was in Hiding.
As a matter of fact, King had been informed of the alleged plot and by the authorities and was in hiding at a Belleville Hotel under the protection of Sheriff Ahrens of St. Clair County.

Returning under instructions to the lawyer's office, he had killed King and, as proof, surrendered to the lawyer King's pocketbook, lodge ring and other personal effects, which the lawyer retained, according to the informer's report to Sheriff Flanagan.

The informer asserted the lawyer paid him $210 "on account" and promised the rest of the agreed

COL. H. H. ROGERS WEDS THE WIDOW OF BASIL MILES

Oil Millionaire, Recently Divorced, and Hungarian Woman, Married in Paris.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 16.—The marriage of the widow of Basil Miles, former United States Commissioner to the International Chamber of Commerce, and Col. H. H. Rogers, Standard Oil millionaire, took place at 11:30 o'clock this morning in the City Hall of the fashionable 16th District. The witnesses for the bride were Dr. Alfred Gruenberger, Austrian minister to Paris, and Count Wladyslaw, Hungarian Charge d'Affaires. Rogers' witnesses were his nephew, Capt. Charles Cartwright and Mrs. Gordon Leith.

The religious ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Verne, at the Protestant Church, Saint Germain, immediately after the civil ceremony.

Mrs. Miles was given in marriage by her cousin, Count Andre Zichy. He and Countess Zichy were the only persons present besides the witnesses.

Col. and Mrs. Rogers departed for an extended motor trip immediately after the ceremony.

Mrs. Rogers was Miss Von Braun of Budapest, Hungary. She first married Peabody Savell, then Miles. Rogers was recently divorced from his wife in Utrecht, Holland. Their daughter is Mrs. Millicent Ramos, formerly Countess Salm von Loosstraeten.

WHY AUTOS, NOT STREET CARS, ARE PICTURED ON $10 BILLS

Street Railways Soon Will Be Out of Date, Treasury Official Explains.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 16.—The new United States currency is up-to-date in other particulars than mere size. An inquisitive person had Bureau of Engraving officials explaining today why the $10 bill notes picture automobiles but not street cars in the reproduction of the Treasury Building.

Alvin W. Hall, director of the Bureau, had an explanation. "That is a futuristic picture," he said, "We believe that within a few years there won't be any street car tracks on the streets by the Treasury Buildings. By the time street cars are anachronisms on those thoroughfares, our $10 bills will be getting a look like themselves. Anyway, the reproduction looks better without being cluttered up with street car lines, but don't tell the Public Utility Commission I said so."

DOCTOR FINED FOR SARCASM TO CHICAGO TRAFFIC OFFICER

Stopped When Speeding to Patient; Later Invited Policeman to Attend the Funeral.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 16.—A physician may speed to his patient's bedside with impunity, but sarcasm to an officer is not permissible.

Dr. Val Freeman, hurrying to treat a patient, was stopped by Officer Franklin Martin.

"The patient I was rushing to see when you stopped me for 25 minutes died the next day. You are invited to his funeral. The man's name is August Kand," the physician wrote later to the policeman.

Dr. Freeman admitted writing the letter. The officer testified that he had offered to escort the physician to the patient's home, but was refused. Judge Albert B. George assessed a $25 fine and costs.

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED ON ALBERT B. FALL'S RANCH

Action Taken by Doherty Interests to Satisfy Note for $124,000.

By the Associated Press.
ALAMOGORDO, N. M., July 16.—Another legal step in connection with transfer of title to the Tres Ritos ranch of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, was taken yesterday when attorneys representing Edward D. Doherty, oil magnate, filed a mortgage foreclosure suit.

The Doherty interests recently purchased the property of the Tres Ritos Cattle and Land Co. at a foreclosure auction sale. The foreclosure suit was filed yesterday to satisfy a note given, Dec. 20, 1928, for $124,000 at 6 per cent.

The papers listed numerous ranches, wells and tanks and the Fall home. Mr. and Mrs. Fall are still living at the Fall home.

According to the summons the note by the Tres Ritos company was signed by Emma Fall, as vice president of the Cattle and Land Co., and Mark Thompson as acting secretary and was indorsed by Albert B. Fall to E. L. Doherty.

FIVE FORMER POLICEMEN ACCUSED OF FRAMED KILLINGS

Charged With Murder of Mexican and Nicaraguan at Phoenix, Arizona.

By the Associated Press.
PHOENIX, Ariz., July 16.—First degree murder charges were filed against five former Phoenix policemen yesterday following an investigation of charges that they had slain a Mexican, a Nicaraguan and wounded another Mexican in a frameup of a drug store holdup here last January.

The charges grew out of a regional complaint against the Phoenix police department for an investigation of the shooting.

E. L. Guernsey, M. J. Frasier, Ray Shockey and Stanley Shockey, were arraigned immediately. The charges against Guernsey were dismissed on the statement of the County Attorney that he had turned State's evidence. The fifth man, W. H. Walker, is sought in California.

The complaint charges the officers gave the Mexicans and Nicaraguan liquor, induced them to attempt the robbery of a drug store and then shot them down after taking them to the establishment and watching them break into the place.

One of the Mexicans swore to an affidavit implicating the former policemen.

The Governor and de Haven climbed out unhurt.

SMOKE INSPECTOR OPERATED SCHOOL FOR APPLICANTS UNTIL EXPOSED

For $150 to $250 Provided Those Seeking Stationary Engineers' Licenses With List of Questions.

HIS AID AMONG FIVE MEN ACCUSED

Offense Charged Is a Misdemeanor Punishable by a Year in Jail or a Fine of $500.

Robert R. Gordon, city Smoke Commissioner, George L. Reno, chief inspector of boilers and elevators, and three other subordinates of the Department of Public Safety, are under indictment on charges of misconduct in office, following the grand jury's investigation into Gordon's private coaching school for applicants for licenses as stationary engineers. Bench warrants for the arrest of the five men were issued today by Judge Hogan, the indictments having been voted yesterday afternoon.

The offense charged is a misdemeanor, punishable on conviction by a fine up to $500 or jail sentence up to one year, or both. The law provides further that any person convicted of this charge shall forfeit his office and be "forever disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the constitution and laws of this State, and from voting at any election."

Misdemeanor cases are tried in the court of Criminal Correction, and prosecuted by the Prosecuting Attorney, instead of by the Circuit Attorney, who thus far has conducted the investigation.

Five Indicted.
Those indicted are: Smoke Commissioner Gordon, 4617 Ashland avenue. Chief Inspector Reno, secretary examining board of engineers, 4432 Washington boulevard.

T. T. Hamilton, chief deputy Smoke Commissioner, 1191A Mississippi avenue. Frank Altman, member examining board, 3624 Virginia avenue.

John J. Kellogg, member examining board, 6222 Finkman street.

Two indictments were voted, one against Gordon and Hamilton, the other against Reno and the two examiners.

Reno is a member of the Republican City Committee, representing the Twenty-third Ward.

Comment Refused by Some.
Gordon and Altman today refused to make any statement about the charges against them. Hamilton was not at his home when his statement was sought there.

Reno referred to a former statement, in which he denied any improper action. "I came in clean and I will go out clean," he added.

Reno said also that since his appointment in 1926, 544 applicants had applied for stationary engineers' licenses, and that 192 of these had been passed. "If I had been selling licenses the number would have been more than that," he said. Reno said also that he had learned of a report that one Charles Lynch paid him $125 to pass the examination. He has obtained an affidavit from Lynch, denying any such transaction.

Gordon and Reno tendered their resignations to the present director of Public Safety, E. A. Steininger, after he took office in May.

Steininger announced this afternoon he had accepted the resignations of all those indicted, effective tomorrow, but that they would be reinstated if they were exonerated.

List of Questions Provided.
The fact that Gordon, while holding his city position at a salary of $4000 a year, conducted his private school at his home on Ashland avenue, was told first in the Post-Dispatch last March 19. At that time, information obtained by the Joint Board of Engineers,

CHARGES NEWMAN PLANS "CLEAN-UP" IN KANSAS CITY

Councilman Declares Street Car Company There Will Be Allowed to Go Into Receivership.

40 PER CENT ON ACTUAL INVESTMENT

But Fare Increase Is Sought on Which, It Is Stated, More Bonds Will Be Sold to Public.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 16.—Charges that the Jacob Newman interests, owners of the Kansas City Public Service Co., were preparing the way to make a "grand clean-up" with the street car company and then let it go into a receivership, were made by Councilman Ira B. Burns in a statement to reporters last night. The local company is a sister concern of the St. Louis Public Service Co., both being controlled by Newman's Del. are holding company, the City Utilities Co.

Burns said that the Newman interests already were guilty of "financial immorality" and now were trying to raid the pockets of Kansas City car riders to the extent of $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 a year with a 10-cent fare.

"All one has to do is to stop and analyze the tricky maneuvers of the company," said the Councilman. "The total investment was about $6,000,000."

Big Promises Made. "Its high-powered executives pictured great things for Kansas City and the new company. It promised improvements, extensions and better service.

"On those promises, it obtained its franchise.

"Now the company is earning $1,700,000 a year above the interest it pays on its bonds. That is approximately 40 per cent on its actual investment."

"In view of all that, the Newman interests are asking for an increase in fare. If the company gets that increase, it then will issue some more bonds, and sell them at 90 cents on the dollar, after which the Newman interests will not care what becomes of the company. It then can go to another city and buy up another street car company cheap."

No New Rolling Stock. Burns charged that the street car company had not purchased any new rolling stock and had "only partly fulfilled its contract on pavements."

"It now is disregarding the city and its obligations under the franchise granted two years ago. In every manner, it is depending on the Missouri Public Service Commission to back it up," he concluded.

As has been told, when the company applied to the Public Service Commission for a 10-cent fare, the city brought injunction proceedings, maintaining it had a binding contract with the company in its franchise to continue 8-cent fare. The company then went to the Supreme Court and got an order voiding the injunction. Now the commission is proceeding with an audit and valuation in preparation for acting on the fare application.

Earnings Overstated. The Kansas City Star under the caption, "Councilman Burns is mistaken," says editorially:

"Kansas City's case against the proposed increase in the rate of fare by the street railways is sound as it stands. It is only hurt by exaggerations. Councilman Ira B. Burns is mistaken in saying that the Public Service Co. is earning $1,700,000 a year above the interest it pays on its bonds. It is not. Last year the earnings were $1,621,000, out of which $346,000 had to be paid for bond interest. "A company that is earning nearly twice its bond interest is not in a bad way and certainly is in no emergency calling for the car riders of Kansas City to come to its rescue. But it only gives the company a chance to plead for sympathy when a city official overstates its revenues by nearly $1,000,000."

FINDS FARM LABOR ADEQUATE

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The supply of farm labor is reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to be sufficient to meet the demand in practically all parts of the country, despite the increased volume of industrial employment. Farm wages are said to be slightly higher than a year ago. Wage increases are general throughout the country, according to the bureau, except in the South Atlantic states, where wages are slightly lower.

FORMER PHYSICIAN ACCUSED IN $6000 CIGAR STORE HOLDUP

Driver of Louisville (Ky.) Robbers' Auto Discovered Long Criminal Record.

By the Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 16.—A man who first gave his name as Dr. Carl P. Henderson, and who, police said, admitted driving an automobile for the robbers in a $6000 cigar store holdup here Thursday, disclosed a long criminal record today. According to police, his real name is Carl P. Olvey. He was held to the grand jury with an alleged companion, Hubert Snider, 28 years old.

Olvey said while serving a term in the Missouri penitentiary in 1918 he escaped, was later recaptured and completed the sentence. Later, he said, he served in the army and in 1925 was convicted of a holdup in Gadsden, Ala., in which a night watchman was slain. Sentenced to 15 years for his part in the crime, he escaped from the penitentiary after 54 days, he said.

Olvey's Bertillon record at the Jefferson City penitentiary shows that he was received June 6, 1917, on a grand larceny conviction from Joplin, carrying a two-year sentence. He escaped June 5, 1918, and, after being recaptured, was taken back to the penitentiary April 25, 1922. He was discharged a year later. The record lists him as a physician.

SUES TO RECOVER $11,000 ON STANLEY EPSTEIN NOTE

Co-signers of Instrument Are Defendants in Employers' Industrial Loan Association.

Suit for the recovery due on a $15,000 note given to help finance one of the Stanley Epstein apartment-building projects was filed in Circuit Court by the Employers' Industrial Loan Association yesterday. The co-signers are Marjory Epstein, J. A. Pastel and Francis M. Pastel, 44 Arundel place, A. E. Goodman and Emily Goodman, 2914 Russell boulevard, T. J. and Tillie Potashnick, 44 Washington terrace, St. Albans, and Rose Spetner, 1155 Hamilton avenue. Epstein's real estate concern is going through bankruptcy but according to J. M. WARRANTS AGAINST FIVE MEN IN E. ST. LOUIS STORE ROBBERY

Ex-Convict Charged With Larceny of Drug Stock; Others With Receiving Stolen Goods.

Warrants were issued yesterday in East St. Louis against five men in connection with the theft of stock valued at $500 from the Boehn drug store, July 7. Alvin A. Brown, Atlanta Ga., an ex-convict who had served a term for larceny in the Kansas State penitentiary, signed a statement admitting the robbery. He is charged with larceny.

PERCY A. FOLSOM, MANAGER OF BRANHAM CONCERN, DIES

Percy A. Folsom, St. Louis manager for the John M. Branham Co., publishers' representatives, in the Chemical Building, died today at his home, 5603 Kingsbury court, of complications resulting from the infirmities of age. He was 69 years old and had been ill several months.

A former Peoria (Ill.) newspaper man, Mr. Folsom moved to St. Louis 17 years ago, associating himself with the Branham company. Funeral services, under Masonic auspices, will be held Thursday morning and burial will be at Bloomington, Ill.

Mr. Folsom is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Folsom.

an organization of stationary engineers, was made public, with supporting affidavits. These showed that Gordon collected from $150 to $250 from the men who received his instruction.

This instruction, it was shown, consisted of supplying a typewritten list of questions and answers, to be memorized by the prospective applicant for an engineer's license. The questions, affidavits stated, were virtually the same as those asked by the examining board.

Following this disclosure, which came during the last mayoralty campaign, the Joint Board of Engineers, representing bodies with a total membership of more than 1000 licensed stationary engineers, passed a resolution asking Mayor Miller to "take such steps as may be necessary to restore the confidence of the people of St. Louis in the City Board of Engineers," the latter being the official name of the examining board.

Gordon's Explanation.

Smoke Commissioner Gordon, at the time of the disclosures, said that he saw no impropriety in conducting his examining board, that he had been an instructor in engineering subjects for more than 20 years. He taught for 15 years in David Ranken Jr. School of Mechanical Trades, an endowed institution. He was appointed to his city position in 1925 by John H. Brod Jr., then Director of Public Safety.

Gordon denied that he had any inside information on the questions asked by the examining board of applicants. He said that the course of instruction covered all points of recognized importance, and that the examination naturally covered similar points, so that much of the matter of the instruction and the examination would be the same. He announced that, to avoid further criticism, he would discontinue his private school.

However, two former members of the examining board, Robert Jacob and Julius Boehmer, said that they left the board in 1927. Boehmer being discharged and Jacob resigning, because they had objected to Gordon's attempted interference in examinations.

The grand jury began an inquiry into the matter last month, and heard witnesses who had previously furnished affidavits to Karl Kimmel, former circuit judge, and counsel for the Joint Board of Engineers.

One of the witnesses, James J. Sellers, in his affidavit furnished to Attorney Kimmel, said he was rejected by the examining board, and that Reno told him he could get more education, and advised him to go to Gordon for instruction. He said Gordon asked $150 for his course, which he could not afford to pay, and that when he renewed negotiations later, Gordon advanced the price of tuition to $250. He refused to take Gordon's course, but studied books and later took another examination, failing again.

R. J. Finley, who paid $75 down on an agreed tuition fee of $200, said he was asked by Reno before the examination if he had "seen Gordon," and that a license was issued to him after six or seven questions. He said Hamilton originally rejected him to Gordon originally.

It was announced last Wednesday that the grand jury's inquiry into the matter was finished. The inquiry, however, was resumed soon afterward, and subpoenas were issued for those who most recently passed the examination for licenses as stationary engineers. The questioning of these men appears to have brought out some points which were not shown by the former inquiry, resulting in the voting of indictments. Including the most recent witnesses, 32 have been heard.

"Cut, Seven Wags."

In the inquiry conducted by the Joint Board of Engineers, it has been stated that Hamilton, one of the men now under indictment, paid a former boiler inspector $10 for furnishing him the names of two prospective applicants for "stationary engineers' licenses. The man protested that the tips furnished by him on prospects were worth more than $5 a head, and he quoted Hamilton as replying to the effect that the money is to be "cut seven ways."

The number of applicants for stationary engineers' licenses has increased greatly in the past few years. Boehmer and Jacob said that when they served on the examining body, up to 1927, fewer than a dozen men would appear before them annually. They now come at the rate of 150 or more a year.

Building owners are required by ordinance, as a safety measure, to employ licensed engineers to operate any engine of more than 15 pounds steam capacity. Violators are subject to a fine of from $25 to $100 upon conviction.

LOCOMOTIVE EMPLOYS THREE KINDS OF POWER

May Generate Own Current, Operate on Trolley or Run as Electric Battery Unit.

A combination electric switching locomotive, the first of its type in the United States, was delivered today by the St. Louis Car Co. to the Illinois Central Railroad, which will use the engine in the Chicago terminal yards.

The locomotive, which weighs 90 tons and cost $70,000, was built in 60 days. Yesterday it was given its final factory test run, witnessed by about 60 officers of various roads, and then proceeded to Chicago under its own power.

Designed primarily for operation in metropolitan areas, where it is desirable to eliminate smoke and dirt, the engine offers three distinct types of motive power. It is equipped as a self-contained unit, burning oil and generating its own electricity; it may be operated on a trolley wire or third rail; or it may be employed as an electric battery unit in cases where only part of the main trackage is electrified. It requires but the throwing of a switch to change its power from one type to another.

Although it is intended to be used as a switching engine, it can be used for road freight and will attain a speed of 35 miles an hour. It has 135 horse power, furnaces oil-burning engines, used for driving the electric generators in places where trolley is not installed, are in the locomotive. They burn distillate.

In its switching operations the locomotive will pull a 3000-ton train, the equivalent of 55 loaded freight cars. Due to its three types of power equipment it can go into electric, trolley or battery operation, change from one source of power to another without losing speed.

The interior of the cab is commodious and comfortable, with equipment somewhat similar to that found in an automobile. There is even a small icebox for the crew's lunches.

WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF IN SIX CHICAGO SUBURBS

Main, Serving 30,000 Residents, Cracked; Damage to Be Repaired by Tomorrow.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Breaking of a water main today deprived nearly 30,000 residents of six southeastern suburban communities of their water supply and it was unlikely the main would be repaired before tomorrow. The suburbs are Harvey, Specialville, Hazelcrest, Phoenix, Oak Forest and Posen.

The main began crumbling Saturday night, and the water stopped yesterday. A temporary repair last night permitted water to be pumped for one hour. All residents filled all available receptacles.

Factories have shut down. A reservoir is to be untouched except for fire fighting.

Farmer Kills Wife and Himself.

BUFFALO GAP, S. D., July 16.—George Alkire, 50-year-old farmer, shot and killed his wife and himself at their home five miles south of here yesterday. They had quarreled after Mrs. Alkire had asked for a team to drive here, their daughter, Mildred, 15, told at the inquest.

effect that the money is to be "cut seven ways."

The number of applicants for stationary engineers' licenses has increased greatly in the past few years. Boehmer and Jacob said that when they served on the examining body, up to 1927, fewer than a dozen men would appear before them annually. They now come at the rate of 150 or more a year.

Building owners are required by ordinance, as a safety measure, to employ licensed engineers to operate any engine of more than 15 pounds steam capacity. Violators are subject to a fine of from $25 to $100 upon conviction.

DROPS TWO CONTEMPT CHARGES IN CLEVELAND

Judge, However, Holds Editor of Press for Trial—Editorial Is Cause.

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—Contempt of court charges against John G. Mellink, business manager of the Cleveland Press, and Joseph Finster, circulation manager, were dropped by Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther, hearing his own action against the press.

This left Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the newspaper, and Carlton K. Matson, to face the contempt charges filed by Judge Walther, because of an editorial attack on an injunction he issued to the Thistle-down race track. Mellink and Finster were dismissed after former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker contended they had nothing to do with the policy of the paper or preparation of the editorial which aroused Judge Walther's anger.

The editorial concerned Judge Walther's injunction against Sheriff John Cline, former president of the Ohio State Bar Association, concluded the evidence against Seltzer and Matson with introduction of copies of editorials and news stories printed in the Press concerning the injunction and subsequent developments.

Baker moved for dismissal of the charges, but was overruled and began his arguments for the defense. He said the disputed "contributions" system of wagering in "pari-mutuel machines" reprobated by the gamblers and dressed in new pants." Later he told Judge Walther that "you restrained the Sheriff from doing his duty."

"I did nothing of the kind," the judge objected.

"If you didn't, why are we here?" Baker asked. "I am willing to sacrifice the rest of my case if you or anyone can find anything in the history of American equity to correspond to the order you granted Thistle-down."

In his explanation of the injunction given before the arguments, Judge Walther said he "read the petition and told them (representatives of Thistle-down) that I wouldn't grant it because that kind of an injunction would restrain the Sheriff from doing his legal duty. I told them I wouldn't restrain the Sheriff in any fashion from enforcing the law. I told them I knew nothing of the contribution system. I warned them I wouldn't give an injunction to protect an illegal business; the only kind I would or could issue was to protect a legal business."

The jurist said attorneys for the track then agreed to insert the phrase restraining the Sheriff only if not in violation of the laws of Ohio.

RECOMMENDED FOR CITY AND COUNTY CENSUS SUPERVISORS

Henry A. Kestling, St. Louis lawyer, and Richard Hassall, Webster Groves druggist, have been recommended by Congressmen Dyer and Niedringhaus for appointment as census supervisors for St. Louis and St. Louis County, respectively. The recommendations virtually assure appointment.

The census supervisors will take up their duties Jan. 1, 1930, and will receive between $2000 and $2500 for their services. Each will be paid an office allowance of $100 a month, and a stenographer, a clerk and about 200 enumerators. The enumerators, who will conduct the house-to-house canvass, will receive four cents a name or between $5 and $8 a day.

Census supervisors outside will be recommended by Senator Roscoe Patterson after consulting Republican organization leaders.

Text of Wickersham Letter On Dry Law Enforcement

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 16.

FOLLOWING are the essential parts of the letter of George W. Wickersham, read at the Governors' conference here today:

"Every intelligent person must be aware that the general attitude of the American people toward the law has fallen far short of what it should be. It is not only shown in the open disrespect for the Volstead law but in the general attitude of 'beating the law' so long as one can get by with it.

"The first thing our commission did was to endeavor to secure actual, reliable statistics of the existing amount of crime, the increase or decrease of crimes during the past decade, the actual delays of the enforcement of justice and the amount of congestion of the criminal courts. There are no reliable statistics furnishing this information.

"The New York Crime Commission, whose admirable reports have been most helpful to me, came upon the same lack and, upon their recommendations, the Legislature of last year passed an act to supply this want.

"I think if the Governors' conference would recommend like action by all of the states it would be helpful. Our commission is studying the subject and will, I think, recommend a uniform state law on the subject with a voluntary administration act in the meantime.

"Another subject we are inquiring into is the cost of extra legal protection against crime by the police, armory, cars, burglary, robbery and fire insurance, and a survey of conditions in Boston, nearly completed indicated that crime in that city actually has diminished during the past decade.

"The fact that city has a larger police force in proportion to its population than any other city has much to do with the favorable conditions mentioned, but the challenging fact is in the greater number of prosecutions which never came to trial, the number of cases settled by pleas of guilty to a lesser offense than charged, the great delay in bringing cases to trial, the greater delays in hearing appeals and the abuse of excessive bail on appeal.

"Justice to be effective should be speedy. It is freely charged that the delay is the result of political influence with the police, prosecutors and even the courts. These are difficult matters to investigate.

"But if every arrest had to be immediately recorded in a central registration office and every step thereafter taken concerning the defendant recorded in the same way it would be much more difficult for an improper influence to thwart the due administration of justice.

"Of course, probably the most serious subjects, will be investigated by our commission. The amendment confers upon the states concurrent jurisdiction with the National Government for the enforcement of this measure. Thus far, the Federal Government alone has borne the brunt of the enforcement. That measure is written into the Constitution of the United States. It seems to me that the Governors' conference should take up this subject and recommend a future conference legislation to be proposed in each state.

"It is cowardly for the states to leave such an important matter to this to the Federal Government," he said. "Each state must make its own study and work out its own salvation. The Federal Government will encroach on this right only if it is permitted."

Gov. William T. Gardner of Maine described confinement of normal human beings without employment as "barbarous punishment." Gardner urged his colleagues to advocate a policy of productive employment for inmates of prisons of their states.

Discussing the Wickersham letter Gov. Caulfield of Missouri said it was "interesting, constructive."

stead act" and other statutes as a consequence.

Wickersham told Gov. Roosevelt that his commission would investigate the cost of private police protection obtained by firms and individuals because city, local and national police protection is "inadequate."

Gov. Roosevelt, speaking on "Co-operation of Governors on Crime Problems," urged the conference to appoint a permanent committee that would act as a "clearing house" for crime statistics and penal laws so that one Governor would always know what another Governor's State was doing toward reducing crime.

"There is no crime wave," he said. "That's a startling statement to make in face of all the talk that there is. And I say it because I realize that there is no one here or anywhere else who has facts and figures to prove there is a crime problem. Before we can do anything with a problem we must know all about it and we know nothing about crime in our country because we have no figures or facts. This lack is the stumbling block in crime investigation and crime reduction."

Roosevelt warned the Governors against allowing the Federal Government to encroach on State's rights and said one of the chief reasons the Federal Government "is getting away with it" is that public opinion is "terribly apathetic."

Roosevelt was introduced by Gov. George H. Dyer of Utah, executive chairman and presiding officer at the crime session. Previous to Dyer's talk, Gov. John H. Trumbull of Connecticut made an address of welcome to the visiting Governors and Gov. Caulfield of Missouri made the reply.

Gov. Roosevelt said that each state should have, as a matter of law, a system of compiling facts about crime toward the end that the problem may be dealt with in the "proper manner."

The permanent Governors' Committee which he suggested would use state statistics as a basis for a national survey and would recommend a future conference legislation to be proposed in each state.

price when King's insurance was collected. The informer also said the lawyer advised him to change his appearance by getting a haircut and buying new shoes.

Upon positive declarations by the informer that Bennett was the lawyer who arranged the "murder" of King, attempts were made to lure Bennett into Illinois to avoid extradition proceedings.

These failing, the warrant for Bennett's arrest was issued.

Belleville last night to return to Carbondale, where he has lived with his mother-in-law since his West Frankfort meat market went into bankruptcy. Federal Court records at East St. Louis show Bennett on June 7 filed suit to foreclose on real estate mortgaged to him by King as security on a $20,000 loan. The two insurance policies for $15,000 were further security. To avoid the foreclosure, other creditors of King sued him into bankruptcy.

Bennett is a brother of Dr. Commodore E. Bennett of Benton, Ill., who was arrested in East St. Louis last April on a charge of illegally dispensing narcotics to himself.

King, 54 years old, was a lieutenant in the Signal Corps during the war.

George W. Bennett of Benton, Ill., father of Attorney Bennett, today declared he believed him innocent of the crime charged in the warrant, which, the elder Bennett asserted, was sworn out by King in reprisal for the foreclosure proceedings against him by the lawyer.

LAST MAN'S CLUB DINNER

Three Veterans to Meet With Other Survivors of Regiment.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 16.—
Three members of the Last Man's Club, formed 46 years ago by members of Company B, First Minnesota Volunteers, will join with other survivors of the regiment in a reunion here Saturday to celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of Bull Run.

First plans called for only the Last Man's Club, consisting of John F. Goff, 86 years old; Peter O. Hall, 91, and Charles Lockwood, 87, to meet at the home of Goff's daughter Sunday for dinner. However, when the general survivors of the regiment planned to meet Saturday at the home of Goff's daughter to meet with them. Although the club's meeting this year will lose its exclusiveness, a bottle of old wine, in which the last living member is to drink a toast to his departed comrades, again will be the centerpiece on the banquet table.

Besides the three members of the Last Man's Club there are only 18 survivors of the 1023 men in the regiment.

CITY'S HOSPITALS ARE INADEQUATE, DR. C. H. LOHR SAYS

Commissioner Reports Psychopathic and Children's Wards Are Especially Crowded.

Crowded conditions at the City
Hospitals, City Sanitarium, Koch Hospital and the City Infirmary are condemned by Hospital Commissioner Curtis H. Lohr in his annual report, made public today.
Attention is called to the steadily increasing number of patients at each institution without a corresponding increase in facilities and staff. The need for additional facilities for the psychopathic wards and children's wards at the City Hospital is emphasized.

Dr. Lohr has been in charge of the hospitals since May 16, last, having succeeded Dr. J. Wilbur Shankland. The report is for the year ended April 10, last, during which the department spent $2-315,158 for supplies and salaries.

Treating the institutions separately, the report said:

City Hospital—"The greatest problem at this institution is the need for additional housing facilities for patients and personnel.

During the winter months especially, the hospital is often so overcrowded that it becomes impossible to render the proper care and attention to its many patients.

"The most objectionable situation in this respect is the observation ward for mental cases. The building which is used is absolutely unsuited and conditions therein remind one of the days at Salpêtrière. The lack of proper facilities for the study of these unfortunate patients is a disgrace to the city of St. Louis and should be remedied."

The construction of a psychopathic pavilion or hospital with an out-patient department and a psychiatric clinic north of the present hospital group, is recommended.
Space is needed for enlarging the children's department, preferably in a new building, with a receiving ward, an infants' ward and laboratory facilities. Quarters for personnel are badly over-crowded.

Rooms should be provided for the segregation of dying patients, the X-ray equipment should be increased, the medical library should be expanded and an electrocardiograph, for diagnosis of heart conditions, should be acquired.

During the year, the hospital averaged 759 patients a day with an average per capita cost of $2.74 a day, as against 725 patients and $2.77 the previous year.

City Hospital for Negroes—"Pages and pages of criticism have been written about this hospital, but it is really surprising to find such a high standard of professional work under conditions which are such a definite handicap to one's efforts. The only solution is the erection of the new hospital for which bond issue funds have been provided."

A site adjacent to the present city hospital group is recommended, because of convenient laboratory facilities, but a western site has been selected and condemnation proceedings are under way.

The Negro hospital averaged 262 patients a day at a per capita cost of $1.91 against 250 patients and a per capita cost of $1.87 the previous year.

City Sanitarium—"While this institution was originally intended to house 2400 patients, it attained during the past year a census of 2775 patients. In order to house this vast number it has become necessary to utilize every available nook and corner; thus we are now compelled to house three patients in rooms which were originally intended for two, and, out of necessity we have been even compelled to take over for bed space the large rooms which had been designed for sitting rooms for the patients.
It is not unusual to find cots lined up against the wall in the long corridors of each ward."

The acquisition of 50 acres to the south of the institution, now sparsely populated, is recommended in the report to provide for future expansion of the Sanitarium, Isolation Hospital and City Infirmary.

The Sanitarium averaged 1171 patients a day and a per capita cost of 62 cents, as against 3030

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh delivered a lecture here yesterday on honesty and integrity. The lecture, incidentally, was recorded on a sound motion picture reel, but probably never will be presented in a motion picture house.

The Colonel was approached at Mills Field by a "talkie" cameraman, who had a microphone under his sweater.

"Isn't that a microphone you have hidden there?" asked Lindbergh, sharply. "Yes," admitted
the operator.

"That's not honest," said the Colonel. "Why didn't you approach me with the microphone in plain sight. That would be the honest thing to do."

"Well," said the operator, who had tried repeatedly to obtain a sound interview, "if I bring the
'mike' out will you say a few words?"

"No, I will not," the Colonel replied, "because you have not been fair about this matter. You have not been honest. I don't approve of your actions at all."

Lindbergh took prominent San Francisco guests on an air tour of

in the yard.

Mrs. Miller blamed Mrs. Wertz
for the altercation. She appealed.

patients at a cost of 63 cents the
previous year.

City Infirmary—"Additional
quarters for both men and women patients are needed as well as an employees' building. Average number of patients, 781, as against 740;
per capita cost, 55 cents, both
years.

Koch Hospital—"Every available bed is almost constantly occupied and the problem of where to put
the tubercular patients is becoming more acute every week. Inasmuch as the treatment of tuberculosis
is a long drawn-out process, vacancies are created rather infrequently by recoveries. Hospital facilities for tubercular patients in St. Louis are totally inadequate."

Recommendations include additional buildings for white men and white women, but especially buildings for Negroes of both sexes,
and a permanent children's building to replace frame cottages now
in use.

The institution averaged 413 patients a day with a per capita cost
of $2.61 last year, as against 402
patients at $2.45 the previous year.

Feeble-Minded Children—"Averaged 416 patients at per capita cost
of $1.48, against 391 patients at $1.43 the previous year. Additional dormitories for both white and Negro children are needed as well
as an auditorium and a small hospital building.

In his summary, Dr. Lohr said
every effort had been made to keep nonresidents out of the city institution. However, under an arrangement with St. Louis County, 500 county patients were treated at various city institutions and the county authorities were billed for a total of $52,653.08.

During the year the Hospital
Commissioner conducted formal hearings and committed 685 patients to the City Sanitarium, 101
to the St. Louis Training School,
and 355 to the City Infirmary.

have hidden there?" asked Lindbergh, sharply. "Yes," admitted
the operator.

"That's not honest," said the Colonel. "Why didn't you approach me with the microphone in plain sight. That would be the honest thing to do."

"Well," said the operator, who
had tried repeatedly to obtain a sound interview, "if I bring the
'mike' out will you say a few words?"

"No, I will not," the Colonel replied, "because you have not been fair about this matter. You have not been honest. I don't approve
of your actions at all."

Francisco guests on an air tour of the bay region.

WOMAN BEATS ANOTHER INTO UNCONSCIOUSNESS; FINED $100

Uses Slipper as Weapon; Each Blames Other as Originator of Quarrel.

Mrs. Adelle Miller of 238 East Virginia street, Lixenburg, was fined $100 by a jury in circuit court Monday for common assault on Mrs. Wanda Wertz, 225
East Virginia avenue, last August.

Mrs. Wertz and several witnesses testified that Mrs. Miller pulled Mrs. Wertz's hair and beat her unconscious with one of her own slippers that came off during the struggle. Mrs. Wertz said the trouble started when Mrs. Miller passed her home and scolded her 10-year-old step-daughter who was playing in the yard.

Mrs. Miller blamed Mrs. Wertz
for the altercation. She appealed.

PERFECT HAND IN PINOCLE

Held by Harry Kramer in Game With Three Others.

A perfect pinocle hand, 1500 points inumps, plus the two nine spots were held last Sunday by Harry Kramer, 3118A Lackland avenue, in a four-handed game at a Big River clubhouse.

The other players were Adolph Wiget and wife, 3469 Pestalozzi street, and William Mueller, 1525A Cora avenue.

patients at a cost of 63 cents the
previous year.

City Infirmary—"Additional
quarters for both men and women
patients are needed as well as an employees' building. Average number of patients, 781, as against 740;
per capita cost, 55 cents, both
years.

Koch Hospital—"Every available
bed is almost constantly occupied
and the problem of where to put
the tubercular patients is becoming more acute every week. Inasmuch
as the treatment of tuberculosis
is a long drawn-out process, vacancies are created rather infrequently by recoveries. Hospital facilities for tubercular patients in
St. Louis are totally inadequate."

Recommendations include additional buildings for white men and
white women, but especially buildings for Negroes of both sexes,
and a permanent children's building to replace frame cottages now
in use.

The institution averaged 413 patients a day with a per capita cost
of $2.61 last year, as against 402
patients at $2.45 the previous year.

Feeble-Minded Children—"Averaged 416 patients at per capita cost
of $1.48, against 391 patients at $1.43 the previous year. Additional dormitories for both white and Negro children are needed as well
as an auditorium and a small hospital building.

In his summary, Dr. Lohr said
every effort had been made to keep nonresidents out of the city institution. However, under an arrangement with St. Louis County, 500 county patients were treated at various city institutions and the county authorities were billed for
a total of $52,653.08.

During the year the Hospital
Commissioner conducted formal
hearings and committed 685 patients to the City Sanitarium, 101
to the St. Louis Training School,
and 355 to the City Infirmary.

BANK CLERK SHORT $3200, SPENT ON GIRL

J. B. Randolph, 21, Admits He Took Money to Take Her Auto Riding.

John Burton Randolph, 21-year-old former bank clerk, today at Police Headquarters, told Chief of Detectives Kaiser and reporters how a fondness for driving in rented automobiles caused him to ju-dle accounts at the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and withdraw a total of $3200 in eight months.

A Federal warrant, issued yesterday, charged him with making false entries in the books and statements of a Federal Reserve bank and with embezzlement.

"I guess I must have spent hundreds of dollars a month renting machines," said Randolph, whose salary as a bookkeeping clerk was $70 a month. "I never gambled or drank and I have only one girl, but we liked to ride around and I had to find some way to do it.
We're engaged and will be married next June if I get out of this all right."

"I knew all along that it would all have to come out some day, so I kept a complete record of all I took."

In addition to what he obtained through the bank, Randolph said he spent $152 which he held as secretary-treasurer of the Downtown Sunday School Athletic Association. His father, Hugh V. Randolph, a St. Charles hardware merchant, has made good the $3200 with his bonding company he said, and he is paying off the $152 in small payments. Randolph lives with a sister at 3272 Delmar boulevard.

Randolph was discharged in March, 1928, when irregularities in his books were discovered. His "system," as he described it, was to write checks to "cash," using names of persons whose accounts were in his books. The checks were deposited to personal accounts of his own in four other banks and, when the checks were returned to his department for clearance, were intercepted. Their amounts, however were charged against the accounts. At length, Randolph said he decided to "bump" them all against the account of the Ford Motor Co. This resulted in his discharge.

"I told my father and girl all about it a long time ago," Randolph said, "and since have been working at $125 a month as timekeeper for the Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, but I guess that job's gone now."

He was released today under $1500 bond pending a preliminary hearing.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

MRS. ELIZABETH WETZL.

A open verdict was returned today after an inquest in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Wetzl, 19 years old, 4151 Taft avenue, who was killed yesterday morning when a motor cycle on which she was riding with her husband, Fred, collided with an automobile driven by Oliver Klehm, 1905 Sidney street, at Gravois and Michigan avenues. She died at City Hospital of a fractured skull.

$75,000 FILM STUDIO FIRE

Explosion in Tec-Art House at Hollywood.

By the Associated Press.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 16.—
Fire from an explosion in a film projection booth of the Tec-Art studios here last night caused damage estimated at $75,000. Film negatives, sound equipment and other movie apparatus were destroyed.

The explosion occurred during a pre-view of a recently completed all-color talking picture.

Falms at Wheel, Hurt.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Congressman Frank Oliver of the Bronx was seriously injured here today when he fell from the wheel of his automobile and the machine struck a bridge abutment. He was taken to Fordham Hospital where it was said his condition was serious. Oliver, who is 46 years old, has represented the 23rd New York district in Congress four terms.

500 REPORTED DEAD IN BLACK SEA FLOOD

Victims Either Drowned or Killed in Landslides—30 Villages Destroyed.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, July 16.—
Five hundred persons were reported today to have perished in floods in the vicinity of the Black Sea, complicated by landslides due to heavy rainfall.

Thirty villages have been destroyed. At Ilizch, where the damage was very heavy, it was reported, the rain was continuing.
The inhabitants are taking refuge in nearby mountains.

The Red Crescent authorities at Constantinople have organized relief for the stricken areas.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 16.—
Many persons were thought to have been drowned today in sudden heavy floods in the Province of Moldau, where the River Sereth rose 13 ft. yesterday, threatening the entire countryside.

A number of bridges were carried away. Troops were sent to assist in relief work. The towns of Bacau, Roman, Piatra, Neame and Targu were inundated.

Spain to Keep Flyers at Home. MADRID, July 16.—The Government announced that Premier Primo de Rivera will approve no airplane flights outside Spain, either trans-Atlantic or European, by Spanish military aviators for eight or nine months to come. This decision will prevent the proposed air tour of Europe by Capt. Jimenez and Capt. Iglesias, who recently completed a similar flight in South America after crossing the South Atlantic Ocean, as well as another trans-Atlantic attempt planned by Maj. Ramon Franco, who was recently rescued on a previous trans-Atlantic attempt near the Azores.

ONE BODY MISSING OF SEVEN WHO DROWNED

William E. Beckman Joins in Search for 3-Year-Old Girl.

William E. Beckman, sole survivor of a family outing party of eight persons from St. Louis who were swept down Pin Oak Creek near Union, Mo., as they sat in their stalled automobile during a cloudburst Sunday, continued to accompany searching parties who hoped today to recover the last body, that of his 3-year-old daughter, Irene.

The bodies of Mrs. Beckman, 28 years old; his son, Virgil, 7, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Tigges, 51, were recovered yesterday and taken to Sullivan where the bodies of his two other children, Marie, 5, and Bernice, 15 months, together with that of his brother-in-law, Lawrence Tigges, 15, were held pending an inquest.

Since Sunday afternoon parties directed by Coroner Thomas P. Shaffer have trudged along the muddy banks of the small stream that subsided almost as rapidly as it rose. Mud from plowed fields and driftwood make the footing insecure and cover areas where the body might have lodged.

Henry Tigges, Beckman's father-in-law, who, because of illness, had remained at the home shared by the two families at 6061 Harney avenue, went to the scene yesterday.

Coroner Shaffer is receiving donations to a fund to assist the two men in defraying funeral expenses. Additions to searching parties also are needed to replace those who have worked constantly since the tragedy, he said.

WILLARD HOTEL IN WASHINGTON BOUGHT BY SYNDICATE

Hostelry Near White House Has Been Scene of Many Official Functions.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Willard Hotel, on Pennsylvania avenue near the White House, and scene of many public and private functions, has been sold by the Boomer-Dupont Properties Corporation to a group headed by Frank S. Light, its manager since 1901. The sale ends the connection of the Willard with a chain of hotels which included the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia.

The Willard hotel site has been a hotel site more than 100 years. The list of its prominent guests includes Presidents Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Grant, Harding and Coolidge, and Vice Presidents Hendricks, Marshall and Davies.

SIX HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Herrin, Ill., Pastor in Machine That Struck Montana Car.

MEXICO, Mo., July 16.—The Rev. E. Senese, pastor of St. Mary's Church at Herrin, Ill., and his nephew, Tony Eovaldi, were seriously injured yesterday when their automobile collided with a machine driven by R. T. Gordon of Butte, Mont., on Highway No. 40, between Danville and New Florence, Mo. Both Gordon and his wife were injured as were their two children. Gordon said a third automobile forced the pastor off the highway and as he tried to regain the pavement his car struck the Gordon machine. The third machine did not stop.

Father Senese suffered a fractured thigh and internal injuries; Eovaldi suffered a severe scalp wound; Gordon's wrist was broken and his knee ruptured; and Mrs. Gordon suffered a broken thigh and a broken collar bone. The injuries to the children were slight.

RURAL SCHOOLS OPEN EARLIER

Crops Advance Date of Sessions in Holcomb, Mo., District.

HOLCOMB, Mo., July 13.—All rural schools in the Holcomb district began today, one to three weeks earlier than usual. Crop conditions caused the early opening.

The teachers of rural schools are as follows: Walnut Grove: Earl Roberts, principal; Miss Gladys Luther, primary; White Oak: Miss Julia E. Russell, Manley: Miss Verda Napper, principal; Miss Alice Miley, Taylor: Miss Della Godbey, Johnson: Mrs. Katherine Hogue. Other teachers of the district: High school: J. W. Welsh; Superintendent: R. H. Henson, principal; Thomas L. Keathley, Miss Doris Overmier, Miss Ida R. Luetzen, Miss Anna Barnes. Town Grades: Mrs. Mary Carrol, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Fern Watson, third and fourth grades; Miss Lillian Barnes, first and second grades.

VOYAGE TO GERMANY OFF

Last of Crew Deserts Skipper of 26-Foot Craft at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 16.—The voyage of the Karl, 26-foot motor launch in which five young men of Bolton and Jackson, Mich., set out from Toledo, O., June 29, with the intention of sailing to Germany, has ended at Baldwinsville on the Barge canal, near here. A propeller strut was broken when the boat ran aground.

Henry Schnittger, 26 years old, sole remaining companion of the designer and owner of the boat, Capt. Joseph Leopold, German war veteran, refused to go any farther even if the craft were repaired. Ill luck followed the expedition since the start. Three other original voyagers left the party at Erie, Pa., where repairs were made after another mishap.

11 GIRLS KILLED, 22 HURT WHEN TRUCK DROPS 1000 FEET

Honduran High School Party Returning From Picnic as Machine Goes Into Abyss.

DRIVER ALSO IS INJURED FATALLY

His Attention Apparently Was Distracted by Laughter of Crowd Behind Him—National Mourning.

By the Associated Press. TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, July 16.—Eleven Honduran high school girls yesterday were killed when the truck in which they were riding crashed into a thousand foot abyss near Sauce, a few miles from here. They were returning from a picnic.

Twenty-two were hurt, some seriously. The driver, Luis Medina, was killed outright. Salvador Corleto, Minister of Public Works, was injured seriously in attempting to reach the bottom of the abyss to aid in extricating the bodies from the wreckage.

The class of girls had been to a spot not far distant for box lunch, dancing and native games. Finally after a day spent in fun-making they piled on the truck for the trip back to Tegucigalpa, many seated about the edge of the truck with their feet hanging over its sides.

It was not known exactly what caused the truck to go over the side of the road, but it was possible that the driver's attention was distracted momentarily at a dangerous spot in the road by the laughter and gaiety behind him.

Many of the girls were from well known families. All theaters and concerts were suspended and national mourning will be declared for the funeral day.

THREE HELD FOR INQUEST INTO DEATH IN HOME BREW PLACE

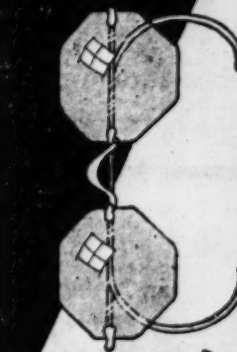

Body of Ernest Frenzel Found on Floor of Establishment Which He Operated.

An inquest will be held in the death of Ernest Frenzel, 54 years old, who operated a home brew establishment at 1225A South Jefferson avenue, where he was found dead last night. Frenzel lived at 3502 Chouteau avenue with his wife, Elizabeth.

According to three acquaintances, who are in custody, Frenzel spent yesterday drinking in a saloon on Ohio avenue, and by 7 o'clock was intoxicated and unable to walk. He was placed in the automobile of one of his companions and driven to his home on Chouteau avenue. There, according to Frank Hill, one of the men detained, Mrs. Frenzel appeared and ordered his friends to "take him back where he got drunk."

The men drove Frenzel to the establishment where, police said, he sold home brew, and left him there on the floor. They returned about 8:30 p. m. and found he was dead. They reported the death to police about an hour and a half later.

132 CORPORATIONS IN CITY SUED FOR TAX

State Asks That Penalty Be Assessed for Failure to Pay Franchise Levy.

Suits against 132 corporations in this city were filed in Circuit Court yesterday by the State of Missouri for failure to pay the annual corporation franchise tax. The tax was due June 1, 1935, and besides the principal the State asks that a penalty of 25 per cent and interest at 1 per cent a month be assessed for delinquency.

A total of between $50,000 and $60,000 is represented in the suits. The tax is levied on the basis of one-twentieth of 1 per cent of the capital stock and surplus of a corporation.

Attorney George Eigel, representing the Attorney-General's office in the suits, said similar actions will be filed in St. Louis County.

Julius Scaffer Florists, Inc., 822 Olive street, $14.37; World Radio Corporation, 6261 Gravois avenue, $15; Champion Electric Ice Co., Boatmen's Bank Building, $50; Watters Oil Co., 3544 Minnesota avenue, $25; Simplex Linotype Co., 119 North Seventh street, $20; W. Tod Browning and Renée Adorée

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director and star, know how important smooth skin is to every girl

9 out of 10 screen stars guard their skin this way.

PEOPLE THRILL to it, always—to the subtle magic of a really flawless skin. There's nothing quite like petal-smooth skin, Hollywood knows.

The pictures have taught Tod Browning and Renée Adorée how much faster the world's heart beats in response to a lovely skin.

"Exquisite skin has tremendous appeal," says Tod Browning, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, summing up 39 directors' experience. "Smooth skin is a vital factor in every screen star's success. No make-up can fake it. It must be the real thing."

With the new incandescent

MARION DAVIES, a screen star famous for her beauty, says: "The deliciously smooth skin we mean by 'studio skin' is a great asset to a star. I am delighted with Lux Toilet Soap."

"sun-spot" lights, a skin must be flawless if it is to stand the test of the merciless close-up lights. Of the 451 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 442 keep their skin smooth with Lux Toilet Soap. Indeed, this fragrant white soap has been made official in the dressing rooms of all the great film studios!

The very next time you see Renée Adorée—or Marion Davies, or Phyllis Haver—in the all-revealing close-up, notice how smooth Lux Toilet Soap keeps her skin. When next you see your favorite screen star, whoever she is, remember that nine out of ten lovely stars use this soap.

You'll like its caressing lather, generous even in hard water. Use it for the bath, too—as so very many screen stars do.

"Lux Toilet Soap leaves my skin so gently smooth," says PHYLLIS HAVER, lovely Pathé star, "that I have no fear of the high-powered lights of the close-up."

POINCARE WINS FIGHT TO SPEED DEBT APPROVAL

Premier Has Majority of 65 on Question of Confidence Regarding Postponement of Debate.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 16.—The Poincare Government was victorious in its first clash with the opposition on the question of ratification of the debt accords today, receiving 304 votes against 239 on a question of confidence.

The vote was taken on a motion introduced by former Minister Louis Marin asking for postponement of debate on ratification of the Mellon-Berenger accord.

The Premier opposed this and, making it a matter of confidence, demanded an immediate vote on the Marin motion.

The Government's victory came in the first battle fought in the open field of the Chamber since the campaign against unconditional ratification of the accord began two weeks ago in chamber committees.

Big Majority for Premier.

Poincare received a majority of 65 votes, one of the largest he has had this year on a question of clean cut issues between the Government and the opposition.

The vote on postponement of the debate was regarded as a test of strength before the real vote on ratification itself comes up.

Even the bitterest opponents of the Government think that Poincare is now certain to force ratification on his own terms before Friday.

The Premier's followers think he will have an increased majority, when the final vote comes on the text of the ratification bill itself.

Two of Poincare's former ministers, Louis Marin and Charles Reibel, led the attack against him.

The opposition had been very keen to overthrow the Premier on this vote and when the first unofficial count was over it was found that there were more ballots in the box than Deputies with a right to vote.

The Premier's margin of victory seemed to be only 31.

Then a recount was ordered and when the roll call was finished the Premier was found to have a margin of 65, a majority that exceeded even the most optimistic expectations.

Opponents Re-Open Attack.

The opposition, undaunted, immediately reopened the attack, Deputy Franklin Bouillon championing another motion asking for postponement of ratification until "all the nations interested in the Young plan had officially accepted it and it had been put into operation."

The Government again put up strong opposition, for the second time making the matter one of confidence. M. Franklin Bouillon, either convinced by the arguments of Foreign Ministers Briand or feeling it was hopeless to fight against the Government, withdrew his motion.

Poincare was cheered long and heartily at noon as he finished his four-day speech favoring ratification of the accords with the United States and Great Britain. All the Deputies except the Communists jumped to their feet in an enthusiastic and striking ovation to the Premier.

The ovation was for Poincare the man, more than for Poincare, the Premier, however. Many of those cheering him were among his most bitter opponents on questions of state.

Recalls Hoover's Address.

The Premier had just told Parliament the debt accords must be ratified and any reservations expressed separately. His last words hammered home his arguments. He recalled again the address of President Hoover at Toledo, O., when he was Secretary of Commerce, in which he explained the money was loaned by American taxpayers. Therefore, Poincare said, there can be no hope of dodging the issue. "The debts must be paid."

He praised the Young reparations plan highly and the careful work of the experts, their foresight, and their good intentions.

Edouard Herriot, former Minister of Finance, rose to question the connection between reparations and the debts but the Premier silenced him with a reiteration of the statement the Young plan comprised two amounts, one for the debts, the other for the reparations.

JUDGE'S ASSAILANT EXAMINED

Woman Who Fired in Courtroom Ordered Taken to Hospital.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Mrs. Ida Dembo Burt, who yesterday fired a pistol at a judge on the bench, was arraigned today and ordered taken to the psychopathic hospital for observation. She was charged with carrying concealed weapons, assault to commit murder, assault with a deadly weapon and disorderly conduct. The case was continued until July 23 to allow time for the mental examination.

Mrs. Burt entered the courtroom of Judge John F. Haas and fired, but the bullets went wild. The attack followed the judge's refusal to vacate a judgment of $1000 against Mrs. Burt and in favor of an attorney for legal fees.

NEW ORLEANS CAR STRIKERS WANT HOOVER TO INTERVENE

National Chiefs to Lay Matter Before President, It Is Said; Partial Service Resumed.

NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—J. B. Lawson, representative of the street car men's union, said here today that National Union leaders would request President Hoover to intervene in the 15-day street car strike in New Orleans.

Lawson said he had been informed over long distance telephone that William Green of the American Federation of Labor; W. D. Mahon, president of the International Carmen's Union and others had conferred today with the Attorney-General and the Secretary of Labor, and that later in the day they would call at the White House for a conference with the President.

Car service was resumed in part today after the experiment of yesterday when cars were sent through the streets for the first time since the riots of the first week of the strike. The cars were operated by non-union men and were guarded by United States Deputy Marshals and police.

The cars attracted light patronage and the automobiles did a flourishing business. Company officers said the service would be enlarged each day until normal movement of cars was reached. No disorders were reported.

ROOKIE AT BARRACKS WINS GENERAL'S PRAISE

Benton (Ill.) Youth's Posture in Line Pointed Out By Area Commander.

Citizen soldiers marched in squad and platoon formation, rattled their rifles professionally at order arms, and deployed as in the face of machine gun fire at Jefferson Barracks yesterday, before Major-General Frank E. Parker, commander of the Sixth Corps Area, with headquarters in Chicago.

Major-General Parker, who was accompanied by Maj. R. C. Ditto, his adjutant, commented on the men on their showing after the first week in camp. He also inspected Camp Skinner, the four weeks' "home" of the citizen army of 1890, and found the "polishing" excellent.

A second-year camp soldier—18-year-old Herbert Mason, high school boy of Benton, Ill., by his posture while standing in line, won that rare distinction of soldiering—the praise of a General. "One of the essentials of a good soldier is proper carriage," Gen. Parker was saying, as he stood before Company E, being put through its paces by Regular Army First Sergeant "Pat" Patterson. "It is a prime requisite. A man who carries himself properly can drill better, shoot straighter and carry out orders better."

Points Out Rookie as Model. Gen. Parker paused. Momentarily he frowned. He advanced toward the front rank of Company E. Sgt. Patterson feared for the moment that some rookie had forgotten to lace his leggings.

"Now there," said Gen. Parker, pointing to Private Mason, "there is a boy who knows how to carry himself."

Private Mason did not move, but the man next to him tottered slightly, and the youth on the other side drew himself so dignifiedly that, to a most unilitary degree, his stomach was pushed out. Gen. Parker pushed it in.

"Like that man there," he said, again indicating Mason, "head erect, chest up, shoulders back. The backbone straight."

A whole company of youths strained for the correct posture, while Sgt. Patterson gazed in astonishment at the contortions. Gen. Parker straightened a pair of shoulders here, pushed back a protruding chin there and indicated an unseemly protrusion of abdomen.

"A good soldier," he concluded, nodding with a smile to Mason, who, later in the day, was being seriously talked of by his mates as in line for Corporal.

Students Hear Lectures.

Apart from their usual drills, the rookie students heard lectures on defense against tanks and machine-gun fire and received a few pointers on scouting. Patient regular army noncoms also sought to impart the rudiments of handling the "screw guns"—those small pieces of artillery, mounted on baby carriage wheels, which fire a 37-millimeter shell, and have a deadly accuracy.

The "screw guns" will be the particular object of study of the howitzer company, which also has work scheduled with trench mortars. Youths in the howitzer company probably will be taken to the Illinois river bottoms, as their training advances, for a few days of cannonading.

More than one-eighth of the members of the civilian army, it was disclosed yesterday, are not able to swim. Orders were issued calling for three-a-week instruction in the barracks tank for these 252 soldiers. Efforts will be made to teach all to swim before the close of the camp.

Last night, the student soldiers watched 16 of their mates in eight boxing contests. Two bouts ended, amidst cheering, with knock-outs. The bouts will continue at regular intervals, concluding with a contest to decide the camp champion in each division.

Under command of Col. Robert L. Floyd, Chicago, 54 reserve officers of the 34th Illinois Infantry reported yesterday for duty, to assist regular army officers of the Sixth Infantry in conducting the camp. They will relieve officers of the Fifty-second (Reserve) Infantry of Missouri.

Col. David L. Stone, former commandant of the Barracks, now stationed in Washington, visited the camp yesterday. Major-General Parker, who was the guest yesterday of Brigadier General Estes, commander of the training camp and Jefferson Barracks, left last night for Texas.

ARRESTED AS HE LEAVES

PRISON AT JEFFERSON CITY

James Downey After Completing Term Accused in St. Louis Robbery.

As he was released yesterday from the Jefferson City penitentiary where he had served a term for burglary and larceny, James Downey was arrested by Detective Lieutenant Coakley and returned to St. Louis at the request of Circuit Attorney Miller to answer a first degree robbery charge.

The case against Downey was found when Miller was checking records of his predecessor who showed he had been released on bond April 10, 1928, and that the case had progressed no further. Downey having received a prison term from Jefferson County soon after.

He is charged with robbing Adam Krucynski, 1529 South Third street, April 9, 1928, taking $20, after representing himself as a Federal agent and beating the storekeeper.

CARDINAL Johnson FRISCH PLAY BASE GETS FOUR

Of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, July 16.—The Cardinals won the series from the New York Giants.

The score was 5 to 0. Carey Selph, who injured his knee in the final at Brooklyn, departed for St. Louis today to report to Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club surgeon.

Chick Hafey, who was hit on the elbow by a pitched ball Sunday, remained at the hotel this afternoon and Roettger again played left field. About 4000 persons attended.

Stark, McCormick and Quigley were the umpires.

The game: FIRST INNING—CARDINALS.—Douthitt singled to left center. High popped to Jackson. Frisch forced Douthitt. Cohen to Jackson. Frisch was nipped off first and in the run up and down he got back to first when Lindstrom dropped the ball, the play was Fitzsimmons to Terry to Jackson to Lindstrom. Bottomley walked. The Giants' Captain, Travis Jackson, and other players complained on a ball called by Umpire Stark, claiming Roettger had swung at the pitch and the game was held up during considerable argument and conference of Umpires Stark and Quigley the decision stood and play resumed. Cohen threw out Roettger.

GIANTS—Reese was thrown out by Frisch. Fullis lifted to Orsatti. Orsatti caught Lindstrom's drive in deep right center.

SECOND—CARDINALS.—Orsatti bounced to Terry. Cohen threw out Wilson. Gelbert walked. Johnson forced Gelbert. Cohen to Jackson.

GIANTS—Ott walked. Terry hoisted to Roettger. Cohen singled to right center, putting Ott on third. Jackson hit into a double play, Gelbert to High to Bottomley. Frisch singled past Jackson. High lefted to Fullis. Frisch singled to left. Douthitt stopped at second. Bottomley bounced to Fitzsimmons who threw him out. Douthitt going to third and Frisch to second. Roettger popped to Jackson.

GIANTS.—Frisch pegged out Hogan. Fitzsimmons out. Gelbert to Bottomley. Reese singled to left. Fullis hoisted to Douthitt.

FOURTH—CARDINALS.—Orsatti filled to Cohen back on the grass. Wilson singled to center. Gelbert fouled to Terry. Johnson bounced a home run off the upper left field stand scoring behind Wilson. Douthitt singled to center for his third straight hit. High singled to left. Douthitt stopping at second. Cohen scooped up Frisch's ground ball and tossed him out to Terry. TWO RUNS.

GIANTS.—Douthitt made a diving catch of Lindstrom's line drive to his left. Ott beat out a hit to deep short. Terry lined to Gelbert and Ott was doubled off first on Gelbert's throw to Bottomley.

FIFTH—CARDINALS.—Bottomley popped to Lindstrom. Roettger was thrown out by Jackson. Orsatti singled to left. Wilson grounded to Terry.

GIANTS.—Cohen singled to left. Jackson hit into a double play. Frisch to High to Bottomley. High lined to Douthitt.

SIXTH—CARDINALS.—Gelbert beat out a slow bouncer. Cohen. Johnson sacrificed. Lindstrom to Cohen, who covered for Douthitt. Douthitt singled over second for his fourth hit, sending Gelbert to third. High singled to left, scoring Gelbert. Douthitt pulling up to second. Frisch singled to center, scoring Douthitt. High stopping at second. Henry replaced Fitzsimmons. Bottomley singled to right center, scoring High. Frisch singling to third. Roettger hit in

LAVERNE FATOR LEADS ALL U. S. JOCKEYS IN SPITE OF A LAYOFF

PONY M'ATEE SECOND IN LIST ON BASIS OF FIRST PLACES

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Laverne Fator, whose name is synonymous with thoroughbred racing, once again is out in front leading the field of jockeys in the battle for riding honors on the Metropolitan circuit.

For a decade and a half the name of Laverne Fator has been right up near the top when it came to handing out jockey honors at the end of the year, and this season appears to be no exception.

The veteran control rider for the Hanover stable of Harry F. Sinclair had accepted 135 mounts up to last Saturday, of which 26 were won from a total of 114 classic fields on New York tracks this season. He brought two in second and 12 captured the short end of the purse.

This record was achieved despite two weeks of enforced vacation brought about by the first suspension of his riding career. Fator was set down during the August meeting.

McAtee Hunter, Jr., ranking second to Fator, yet not near enough to be considered dangerous, is "Pony" McAtee, veteran rider of Clyde Van Dusen, winner of the Kentucky Derby, Disraeli, riding his usual custom of accepting only a few choice mounts. McAtee, 22, has won 22 races and 13 seconds and 19 thirds.

Trailing in third place is D. J. Dyer, who has been quietly registering a succession of victories. This mile of a lad who tips the scales at 104 pounds, has been in 104 races to bring home 20 winners, 13 seconds and a like number of thirds.

Not far behind Brice comes Willie Garner of the famous Garner riding family and the not-so-well-known, J. Brice. Willie has been up on 109 mounts, booted 20 of them to victory, 16 to place money and two less to show. Brice has a slightly better record in that he has accepted only 104 mounts, for 20 triumphs, 15 seconds and 13 thirds.

"Uncle Mack" Doing Nicely.
Mack Garner, brother of Willie, has been taking things more easily on the New York tracks but at that he has ridden 144 winners, 15 seconds and 40 thirds in 55 mounts. In addition, however, Uncle Mack was astride the famous Kentucky Classic, the Belmont Stakes, and the Withers to clinch 3-year-old honors.

If the number of horses ridden is an indication of hard work then A. "Slim" Robertson is just about the busiest jockey of them all. Robertson, who rides for Harry Payne Whitney, got off to a flying start in Maryland where he was the leading rider, but since coming to New York tracks he has not fared so well. His record shows 442 mounts, of which 17 were winners, a like number second and eight finished third.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS SUBJECT TO STRICT RULES
LONDON, July 16.—The Australian cricket board of control decided recently that all players chosen for the 1929 tour of Great Britain must leave England immediately the contests are ended and must agree not to return to England to play cricket for two years. The English players' qualification is two years residence, this means four years out of an Australian cricketer's life before he can play for an English club once he has been chosen to represent his own country.

Has Turf Gridiron.
Georgia Tech will host a turf gridiron for the first time in Atlanta this fall. The game will be the scene of the important home contests, which promise to still further spread the fame of the college.

GIANTS TAKE ON AIR OF HOPELESSNESS, FAILING TO WIN AT HOME

GLOOM FILLS THE DUGOUT; TEAM TIRED BY DOUBLEHEADERS

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Maybe the Pittsburgh Pirates still think the Giants have a chance. Maybe the Chicago Cubs aren't willing to declare the local outfit out of the pennant fight yet. And maybe neither of them will find this necessary. The Giants may have declared themselves out of it already. Anyhow, there is a more than a tentative suspicion around these parts that the Giants have curled up on John McGraw like an old love letter.

Apparently the Pirates' rush through the East—they won their eighth straight in Boston yesterday—and the consistent winning of the Cubs in this section, have taken all the fight out of John's ball club. In spite of a long stay at home, they are six and one-half games out of the lead and this is a depressing effect in the dugout. Here a brooding silence pervades. The boys have nothing to say and they spend the afternoon saying it. Hogan chased a foul in amongst them the other day when they were thinking about something important. Anyhow, they hadn't seen him coming. The incident was typical of an attitude the Giants seem to have assumed since last Wednesday, when they failed to win the opening game of a double-header with the Cubs.

Seems Strange.
This sounds like a strange outfit for a bloke like McGraw to be handling. John is supposed to be a slave-driver whose word is the law of a whip that makes the hired men cringe and cower, but apparently they are not cringing in good form these days. Even a man's most violent oratory is liable to seem pointless if he gets the impression that nobody is listening. Probably the main trouble with the club is that it finds itself in third place and has come to suspect that this is where it belongs. Certainly indications are strongly against an improvement in their situation. For one thing, they have lost 10 games more than have the Pirates and there is one fact you always can make with an open mind and a clear conscience, namely, games that are lost, stay lost. A club can get well out in front in victories and you still have a chance. But when it tops you badly in defeats, you are licked.

Another adverse indication is the fact that the Giants have played seven double-headers in the last two weeks and have broken even in six of them. It is remarkable how fast one can get oneself nowhere doing business like that.

Pirates Speed On.
Meantime, the club they expected to run down while the Eastern campaign was on, to wit, the Pirates, has won three straight in Brooklyn, four straight in Philadelphia and the opening game in Boston yesterday. They have won 13 of the last 15 games, while the Giants have been doddering along with eight victories and five defeats. They also have lost ground to the Cubs, so that if they feel downcast today, they have come by the sentiment honestly.

St. Louis Boy Winning in International Meet

LOUGHRAN SLOW, BETTING IS CUT. TO EVEN MONEY

NEW YORK, July 16.—There are rumors that James J. Braddock has developed a good left hook which he hopes to use with good effect when he faces Tommy Loughran in their light-heavyweight championship battle at the Yankee Stadium Thursday night, but the chances are that the Jersey City challenger will fall back upon his trusty right when and if a crisis develops.

Observers at Braddock's training camp at White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., have noticed the challenger working away with a left hook. But James J. is not by any means neglecting his straight right. It was a straight right that broke Pete Latzo's jaw, knocked out Duffy Griffith and stopped Jimmy Slattery, and no one knows better than Braddock that his fortune is in his right hand. With that hand Braddock punches harder than any light-heavyweight in the business. It would seem.

But Loughran, at his camp in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., appears unworried. The champion, apparently close to his best form, is depending upon skill to keep him out of the way of the challenger's punches.

Leo Lomski found that Loughran could be bloated but Leo didn't find any way to keep the light-heavyweight champion down. The Aberdeen assassin floored Tommy twice in the first round of a bout at Madison Square Garden but Loughran got up to box his way to a decision. But Braddock punches harder than Lomski and Loughran may not be able to get up if one of the Jersey City's slugger's rights lands flush on his jaw.

Odds on the bout have been shortening. Indications now are that Loughran will enter the ring a better bet than an even-money choice. The betting fraternity seems to have decided that the 175-pound titleholder had lost some of his speed and that there is more than a remote chance that Braddock will succeed to the title.

ABBOTT FINED $200 FOR TAKING PUEBLO CLUB OFF THE FIELD
TOPEKA, Kan., July 16.—Action of Spencer Arthur Abbott, Pueblo manager and club owner, in taking his team off the field in the second game of a double header at Denver, July 7, resulted yesterday in a $200 fine.

Denver was leading, 6 to 3, in the first half of the eighth when Abbott who, it was reported, has been finding fault with Umpire Hawthorne's ball and strike decisions, led his team off the field. The umpire forfeited the game to Denver.

GOLDMAN AND STOCKHAM NO. 3 NINES WINNERS

The Goldmans and the Stockham No. 3 team will meet for the American Legion Junior Baseball League city championship, Thursday afternoon, at Forest Park.

In the first of the three-cornered series for the title, among the three division winners, the Goldmans defeated the Anderson No. 4 nine, 7 to 4, yesterday afternoon at Forest Park.

Due to forfeits caused by some teams breaking the regulations under which the League operates, the South Side league had ended in a tie, and in the playoff yesterday Stockham No. 3 trounced the Carondelet Stars, 14 to 4, thereby winning the right to meet the Goldmans in the third game among the three division winners.

The victor in the game Thursday will meet the County champions to decide which team will represent the city and county in the district playoff to be held later this month.

Husky Oarsmen.
The senior eight-oared boat of the Argonaut Club in Toronto this season has an unusually tall and husky crew. The average height is 6 feet 2 1/2 inches and the average weight is 174 pounds.

Referee Jack Hughes, who was to officiate, had to cancel his engagement because of the death in Kansas City of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Hughes, following an operation.

Hughes said he understood Roy Parkinson would serve in his place.

FIVE LOCAL BOAT CLUBS WILL COMPETE IN MUNICIPAL REGATTA

CENTURY CREWS, ENTERED IN FIVE EVENTS, FAVORED TO WIN MEET

Five St. Louis boat clubs will compete in the eleventh annual regatta of the Municipal Rowing Association, Sunday, on the Mississippi. The official entry list for the event was released today by the Parks Department.

Boat clubs entered are: Century Boat Club, Western Rowing Club, North End Rowing Club, Central Rowing Club, and St. Louis Rowing Club. For the first time in many years the Baden Rowing Club will not be represented. The club recently dissolved. Its equipment was purchased by the Century Boat Club.

Century Boat Club leads in the number of crews entered, with five as follows: Four-oared shell, six-oared barge, four-oared shell, four-oared scull, No. 1 and No. 2, in the eight-oared scull race. The Century rowers, now pointing for the National Regatta at Springfield, Mass., Aug. 2 and 3, are favored in the Municipal Regatta.

Course Is Upstream.

The races will be rowed at half hour intervals over a course one-half mile, upstream. The finish line will be opposite Bellevue Park at the Century Boat Club. Eight-oared crews will race first, followed by the single scull, four-oared, doubles, and barge events in the order named, according to present arrangements.

Arthur E. Eilers, of the Washington University's athletic department, and president of the Central States Rowing Association, will be official starter.

Points will be awarded on the following basis: Eight-oared crew race, 30 points, for first; 18 points, second, and six points, third. Six-oared barge—25, 15, 5. Four-oared—20, 12 and 4. Doubles—15, 9 and 3. Single scull—10, 6 and 2. When only one crew is entered in an event it will be awarded first place points if it rows the official course.

The official entry list follows:

Eight-Oared Shell.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Three Titles at Stake.

THREE cauliflower crowns will rest uneasily on the heads of their wearers, during the next three weeks. In that space of time three title fights are on the schedule. Next Thursday will see the first of the encounters when Tommy Loughran will take a chance with James Braddock, who slings a wicked sock. Yankee Field draws this attraction.

Next, on July 25, comes the welter weight championship at Detroit between Champion (Ouch, that sore lip again!) Joe Dundee of Baltimore and Jackie Fields (born Jackie Finkelstein) of Los Angeles. The boys who know all about how fights will result before they are held figure this one just a headache for Dundee.

On Aug. 2 at Chicago Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, is taking on a small but live piece of dynamite in Tony Canzoneri, and a warm evening is looked for, if Sammy doesn't play every base safe.

Dundee was a very good man, back in the day when he flat-tended Mickey Walker; but since becoming champion he has not shown any inclination to take a chance. So the fans would kiss him good-bye with great gusto.

"Ounce of Prevention," Etc.

THESE three fights are interesting, because almost everyone is hoping that the challengers will be the winners. Tommy Loughran, the lightweight king, is fine fighter of the School of Prevention. He

DREWES REACHES SEMIFINALS BY HOLLOW VICTORY OVER PLUNKERT

By Glenn S. Hutchinson

Two singles and two doubles matches were completed, yesterday afternoon, in the men's Municipal tennis tournament held at the Jefferson Memorial courts, Forest Park, in spite of the rain which threatened to postpone play in this tournament for the sixth time.

Theodore Drewes of O'Fallon and winner of this tournament since 1924 advanced into the semifinals by easily defeating Jack Plunkert of Oakland, 6-0, 6-1. Sidney Smith of Forest Park and seeded No. 3 in the tournament also entered the semifinals when he downed Harry Schaberg of O'Fallon, 6-2, 6-3.

In the doubles, Schaberg and Norton of O'Fallon, seeded No. 2 team, advanced to the third round at the expense of the Kingshighway team of Bernero and Thompson, the score being 6-1, 6-4. James Murphy and Rosenfeld of Forest Park completed their match with Emmett and Steve Kelly of Carondelet, winning it 6-3, 6-2.

Darkness Halts Match.

One singles and one doubles match were called on account of darkness. Joyce Portnoy of Forest Park and William Zell of O'Fallon ended with one up in sets and four all in the deciding set. James Murphy and Rosenfeld of Forest Park won their first set, 11-9, against Plunkert and Talbot Murphy of Oakland but the latter has a lead of 3-1 in the second set.

Singles semifinals, which will be the best three out of five, has been postponed until later on in the week.

Today's play will be concentrated on the doubles matches, if weather and court conditions permit.

HORSEMEN TO HOLD POLO PONY RACE AT FOREST PARK SATURDAY

Local horsemen will engage in a polo pony race Saturday afternoon at the aviation field in Forest Park. The race will start at 4 o'clock and the distance will be 200 yards. The qualifications are that the riders shall carry a mallet and the pony be one that has been used in a regular match.

Among the outstanding contestants are: August A. Busch Jr., Bridlespur; Marguis Musick, Missouri Stables; Barney Benson, Indianapolis; Polo Club; Jack Krey, American Polo Club and J. W. McIvaine, Missouri Stables. The winner will be presented with a trophy.

Following the race, the American quartet and Indian four will engage in a polo match. Contests are held every Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at the aviation field by the leading local horsemen who are preparing for the St. Louis National Horse Show which will be held this fall.

Schlereth Will Meet Oklahoman Here July 22

An eight-round contest between Buddy Schlereth of this city and Young Darby of Tulsa, Ok., was announced today by Matchmaker Jack Tippet as a welterweight preliminary to the heavyweight exhibition of four rounds between Max Schmeling, the "German Jack Dempsey," and Herman Heller, billed as the feature attraction of an outdoor boxing show at the Battery arena next Monday night.

Darby claims to have won 18 out of 21 professional bouts in Texas and Oklahoma. He has been in St. Louis about a week and his showing in sparring workouts at the National Gymnasium seems to warrant Tippet's opinion that he will provide a strenuous engagement for Schlereth.

Jackie Doss of Temple, Tex., and Lou Terry, local lightweight larriper, who meet in a 10-round contest, are the only other fighters Tippet has matched to date for the Battery show but he expects to conclude negotiations today for two more contests.

The outcome of Johnny Kaiser's encounter with Paul Steadman at the Flori Olympian arena will determine whether Kaiser is to be pitted against Chico Cisneros, Mexican featherweight, in a 10-round feature of the Battery bill.

Al Stillman, Frank Power and Harry Kabakoff are other local scrappers Tippet is considering for matches supporting the Schmeling-Heller exhibition.

They warned us against the word "SPIT"

But— we felt that smokers should know the truth about spit-tipped cigars

Within the memory of nearly every smoker is a picture of some old, filthy cigar shop where the man in the window rolled the leaves with dirty fingers . . . and spit on the ends.

Cigars turned out under such conditions may endanger health. Why take chances? Why risk your health when Cremo offers you the finest smoke enjoyment plus the sanitary cleanliness of certified foods . . . a cigar endorsed by Alfred W. McCann?

Over $7,000,000 was spent in perfecting the Cremo Process which puts Cremo miles ahead in sanitary goodness. Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by U. S. Government approved methods. And this purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that fill, wrap and tip the cigars without the menace of spit!

HUGE NEW GERMAN STEAMER BREMEN
BEGINS FIRST TRIP

Four-Propeller Turbine Ship of 49,864 Tons, Leaves Bremerhaven for New York.

By the Associated Press.

BREMERHAVEN, July 16.—
The pride of Germany's trans-Atlantic passenger fleet, the new North German Lloyd liner Bremen, of 49,864 tons gross register, left port today at 5 p. m. (10 a. m. St.
Louis time) on her maiden voyage to New York, with her officers accretely bent on making a record
Atlantic crossing.

Officers of the North German Lloyd Line would not admit that the Bremen would attempt anything like a race against time on her first voyage. They said they would be quite content if the new liner could be relied on to make the passage from the channel ports to New York with regularity in a little more than five days.

The liner is a four-propeller, turbine ship, and is the last word of German design in luxury, comfort and safety. President von Hindenburg christened her a year ago.

Thousands of persons along the shore gave rousing cheers as the spick and span "ocean express," as her builders call her, started down the smooth waters of the Weser Estuary on a brilliant summer afternoon.

The Bremen's black hull and shining white superstructure made an impressive sight. On the sun deck is a catapult which will propel a small airplane, with mail, from her decks at a point 600 miles east of New York, thus saving a full day in delivery.

The Bremen carried a full complement of 2200 passengers, and a crew of 980.

The record for the westward crossing of the Atlantic is five days three hours and 17 minutes, and was made by the Cunard liner Mauretania in July, 1928.

INQUEST IN DRILLER'S DEATH
An inquest was held today in the death of John M. Poulton, 54 years old, a driller of Cleveland, O., who became ill Sunday at the Annex Hotel, and died yesterday at a hospital.

Dr. William Hagen, a physician with offices in the Arcade Building, said he was summoned to Poulton's room Sunday and found the man unconscious. There was a bottle in the room, which contained a few drops of what Dr.
Hagen describes as "bad whiskey."
A chemical examination will be made of the stomach.

U. S. BUSINESS PARTY ON TOUR OF RUSSIA

99 Bankers, Industrialists and Professional Men to Make 30-Day Inspection.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 16.—Ninety-nine American business men, lawyers, engineers and newspaper editors, some with their wives and families, left last night for a 30-day trip of inspection to Russia. Traveling by special train under joint management of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce and the American Express Co., they will visit all of the more important industrial centers of European Russia.

Among the many Americans who saw them off were S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, and Assistant Commercial Attache C. E. Miller.

In the delegation are Mrs. Henry Pierce of New York, who was the only woman passenger on the last flight of the Graf Zeppelin; Dr. Eleanor E. Conover of New York and 21 other women. The party represents almost every State in the Union; many are sight-seers, but the majority are business men who wish to see at first hand what are the opportunities for trade.

The Russian promoters of the tour are hopeful that it may prove the precursor of a new era of business between the United States and Soviet Russia. The women of the party were instructed to leave behind their silks and satins, evening gowns and other finery which have no place in the Proletarian Republic while the men were requested not to introduce such bourgeois accoutrements as top hats, canes and evening dress.

Evidence of the welcome they will receive was offered by the fact that each received his Soviet visa immediately on arrival here, whereas it takes the average applicant from one to six months to obtain permission to enter the Communist State.

Among the business and professional men in the delegation are Albert Ottinger, defeated candidate for Governor of New York; D. E. Felt of Chicago; James Gannon, vice president of the Chase National Bank of New York; George T. Mortimer, director of the American Trust Co. of New York; James H. Pierce, New York engineer; Richard E. Scandrett, vice president of the American Gas & Electric Co.; James C. Bennett, vice president of the Westinghouse Manufacturing Co. of New York; Joseph J. Black-

ITALY, SPAIN AND SWEDEN IN NEW TARIFF PROTESTS

Former Says Measure Would Diminish Nation's Purchase of Agricultural Products From U. S.

OTHERS MENTION CORK AND STEEL

Filipinos, at Hearing, Ask That No Duties Be Placed on Imports From the Islands.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 16.—Italy, Spain and Sweden have sent additional representations to the State Department regarding American tariff proposals on behalf of the respective governments and trade associations.

The communications, made public today by the Senate Finance Committee, noted exceptions particularly to proposed duty increases in the House bill on steel products and cork and general imports from Italy.

A note from the Italian Ambassador declared that Congress adopted the bill as passed by the House the "direct effect can be only diminish Italy's purchases of agricultural products and other raw materials in this (American) market and consequently impair Italy's international economic position."

The Ambassador declared imports from Italy to the United States "hardly reach 2 per cent of the aggregate" American imports and that "such a small percentage would hardly justify any claim of unbearable competition."

Protests Against Duty on Cork.

The Spanish Ambassador, who recently submitted a note to his Government threatening "de-advancement" of the commercial modus vivendi between the United States and Spain should certain House rates be adopted, declared in a supplemental memorandum that the proposed increase in duty on cork was "equivalent to an embargo" as far as Sweden was concerned.

Protests Against Duty on Steel. A communication from the Swedish Minister transmitted a protest from the Swedish Iron Masters' Association declaring the proposed increase in duty on hollow drill steel was "equivalent to an embargo" as far as Sweden was concerned.

Further requests that no duties or restrictions be placed on imports from the Philippines were heard today at the continuation of hearings on the administrative provisions of the bill. The house measure continues the present free trade policy with American possessions.

Camillo Osias, resident commissioner of the islands, said that the plea of the Philippines was that the existing policy be maintained "while the United States flag waves over the islands."

Sergio Osmena, Philippine Senator; Rafael R. Alunan, secretary of agriculture of the Philippines, and Pedro Guevara, resident commissioner, filed briefs with the committee in opposition to taxing island imports.

John G. Lerch, representing the American Tariff League, urged an amendment to the law to grant to American producers or wholesalers the right to appear, along with importers, as a party to hearings in classification and reapportionment cases.

Makes Plea for Freedom. Statistics and technical data were shunted aside by members of the committee at its hearings yesterday as a youthful appearing Filipino—with tears in his eyes—pleaded, for freedom of the Philippines.

He was Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the islands and chairman of the Philippine Legislative Commission, sent to this country to protest against the placing of import duties on goods from the archipelago entering the United States.

Roxas objected particularly to testimony by John M. Switzer of New York, representing the Philippine-American Chamber of Commerce, that the Filipinos wanted independence as a principle but were praying they would not get it. These words were used by Chairman Smoot and Switzer agreed that was the case.

Roxas denounced this thought and declared the Filipinos were for independence, "not only on principle, not only because it is a nat-

Filipinos, at Hearing, Ask That No Duties Be Placed on Imports From the Islands.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Italy, Spain and Sweden have sent additional representations to the State Department regarding American tariff proposals on behalf of the respective governments and trade associations.

Protests Against Duty on Cork.

The Spanish Ambassador, who recently submitted a note on the aggressive "devaluation" of the commercial modus vivendi between the United States and Spain should certain House rates be adopted, declared in a supplemental memorandum that the proposed increase in duty on cork was "great enough to reduce the consumption of this article, Spain's principal export to the United States, since the industry will try to find a cheaper substitute and the Spanish exporting business will thereby be markedly injured."

A communication from the Swedish Minister transmitted a protest from the Swedish Iron Masters' Association declaring the proposed increase in duty on hollow drill steel was "equivalent to an embargo" as far as Sweden was concerned, "inasmuch as by far the main part of the hollow drill steel imported by the United States comes from Sweden."

Swedish steel, it was contended, does not compete upon a price basis with the domestic product and is "imported by the United States because of its superior quality."

Filipinos Appear at Hearing.

Further requests that no duties or restrictions be placed on imports from the Philippines were heard today at the continuation of hearings on the administrative provisions of the bill. The house measure continues the present free trade policy with American possessions.

John G. Lerch, representing the American Tariff League, urged an amendment to the law to grant to American producers or wholesalers the right to appear, along with importers, as a party to hearings in classification and reapportionment cases.

Makes Plea for Freedom.

Statistics and technical data were shunted aside by members of the committee at its hearings yesterday as a youthful appearing Philippine—with tears in his eyes—pleaded for freedom of the Philippines.

He was Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Islands and chairman of the Philippine Legislative Commission, sent to this country to protest against the placing of import duties on goods from the archipelago entering the United States.

Roxas objected particularly to testimony by John M. Switzer of New York, representing the Philippine-American Chamber of Commerce, that the Filipinos wanted independence as a principle but were praying they would not get it. These words were used by Chairman Smoot and Switzer agreed that was the case.

Roxas denounced this thought and declared the Filipinos were for independence, "not only on principle, not only because it is a national yearning of a people to be free, but because we sincerely believe that only in freedom will we be able to work out our destinies."

"We love freedom," he emphasized as tears rolled down his cheeks.

Plan for Relieving Street Congestion in Paris

Plans Elevated Walks to Ease Paris Traffic Jam

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PARIS, July 16.—Various schemes have been proposed for the solution of the pressing problem of traffic congestion in the Paris streets. From his position of official architect to the French Government, more than a passing interest attaches to the proposal of Andre Ventre.

In the first place he is diametrically opposed to underground schemes for relieving the congestion. He regards them as being too costly and says their realization is not desirable from the standpoint of health.

His own plans, which were shown at the autumn salon in the Grand Palais, show elevated pathways for pedestrians, the streets being left as they are at present, but reserved to vehicular traffic. He proposes to solve the problem of shopping under such conditions by raising the shop fronts to the level of the elevated footpath, and the space thus afforded by the removal of the shops he would transform into garages.

Ventre would have the building laws amended so as to permit of raising one story above the present limits. This would compensate for the loss of a story due to the raising of the shops. Ventre's idea is that the whole width of the thoroughfare shall be given over to vehicular traffic, while for foot passengers, overhead pavements, level with the first story of the shops, will be provided. By eliminating the pavements it is estimated that the road space on the main boulevards would be doubled.

The following is a key to the plan. A.—Elevated pavement for pedestrians only. B.—Shop windows and entrances on level of elevated pavement. C.—Bridge to be built at cross roads. D.—Space available for parking cars, occupied now by windows of shops. E.—Concealed tubular lighting, which, casting its rays across the road, would do away with electric light standards. F.—Stairway leading to road level to be provided at important points and at omnibus stopping places.

urial yearning of a people to be free, but because we sincerely believe that only in freedom will we be able to work out our destinies."

"We love freedom," he emphasized as tears rolled down his cheeks.

"While we are grateful for what the United States has done for us and we love this country, we love our country more and we love freedom more," he added.

Requests a Plebiscite.

Roxas asked that Congress authorize a plebiscite in the islands on the independence question and declared if 90 per cent of the people did not favor freedom, he would abandon his efforts in that direction. He predicted also that if the issue were carried to the American electorate the decision would be overwhelmingly in favor of independence.

The witness declared he had been taught the alphabet on the knees of an American soldier, that he was left fatherless before birth by the "tyranny of Spain," and that each year on the anniversary of the death he swore devotion to the freedom of his country.

Roxas was congratulated by both Republicans and Democrats on the committee. Senator Connally (Dem.) of Texas, told him that if the islands had "any more like you they would be able to govern themselves."

Declaring the existing free trade with the islands had been mutually beneficial, Vincente Villamin, Filipino lawyer of New York, opposed restriction of Philippine free-duty sugar imports.

Tariff Bill Slings Consumer, Flouts Farmer, Capper Says.

By the Associated Press. TOPEKA, Kan., July 16.—Speaking against the Hawley tariff bill, Senator Capper of Kansas, in an address last night before the Indian Creek Grange, said the measure as it came from the House "stings the consumer, flouts the farmer and seriously disturbs our trade relations with 23 nations."

Capper predicted one of two things is likely to happen, unless the Senate Tariff Committee does a "good job" in rewriting the bill. "Either the President will veto the bill," he said, "or we shall see the farm West start a vigorous campaign for tariff reduction. In self-defense it could do no less."

"Instead of doing something to lessen the disparity in the prices of goods farmers must buy and the prices farmers obtain for products they must sell," the Senator added, "the House tariff makers have increased that disparity, either through lack of backbone to perform the plain duty they owe the country as a whole as well as to the farmer."

CARAWAY WANTS SENATE INQUIRY INTO LOBBYING

To Ask That Committee Find Out Personnel, Nature of Activity, Amount and Source of Pay.

CALLS IT "FORM OF PURE GRAFT"

Thinks Few Votes Are Influenced — Proposal Aimed Mainly at Permanent Agents in Capital.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A general investigation of lobbying in the Capital will be demanded by Senator Caraway when the Senate reconvenes Aug. 19, the Arkansas has announced. He will ask for authorization of a special Senate committee to ascertain the identity of persons engaged in lobbying, the nature and extent of their efforts to influence legislation, and the amount and source of their funds.

Actually, Caraway does not think that many votes in Congress are influenced by lobbying. His main purpose, he explained, is to expose the false claims of lobbyists, and to disclose the extent to which they are "grafting" on those who pay for their alleged influence. Giving his idea of the methods employed by professional lobbyists, he said:

"When a bill of a certain character is coming up, I can accurately predict how 90 per cent of the Senate and 75 per cent of the House will vote on it. So can anyone else who is familiar with the records of the members. Newspaper correspondents do it every day when Congress is in session."

"Lobbyists have this information, and they take advantage of it. When a bill is coming up they send word to interested persons or organizations that they can 'fix things.' Later, when the Senators or Representatives have voted as they always intended to vote, and as everyone who knew them knew they would vote, the lobbyist sends his clients a big bill for 'expenses.' The people who pay the bill believe that Senators and Representatives were paid to vote as they did."

"Members of Congress are constantly being sold out behind their backs in this fashion. It is a form of pure graft, and it should be exposed."

Such an investigation as Caraway proposes would involve an inquiry into the methods of the Anti-Saloon League, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, the National Federation of Labor, the National Association of Manufacturers and many other organizations which maintain permanent offices in Washington for the purpose of "safeguarding their interest," although Caraway denied that he had any particular groups in mind.

MINISTRY TRYING TO AVERT BRITISH TEXTILE LOCKOUT

Intervenes in Dispute That Threatens to Throw 500,000 Out of Work.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, July 16.—The Herald, a party newspaper, states that the Ministry of Labor has intervened in the Manchester cotton industry dispute which threatened to throw 500,000 workers out of employment. Its officers are in touch with operatives and employers and are endeavoring to avert a lock-out solution that will be averted.

Meanwhile the Board of Trade is arranging an inquiry into the whole problem of the cotton industry. The Federation of Master Cotton Spinners a few days ago voted to enforce a reduction of about 12 per cent in wages after July 29. The workers had declared early in June that any attempt to reduce wages would be opposed.

TO AUCTION THE MAYFLOWER

Navy Drops Presidential Yacht From Roster of Ships.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—There is no longer a U. S. S. Mayflower. At the end of the Navy's daily report of ship movements yesterday the presidential yacht had been stricken from the rolls of the navy.

The dismantled ship, which now is at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, is shortly to be advertised for sale and delivered to the highest bidder, just like any boat which has outlived its usefulness. Shortly after entering office, President Hoover decided not to use the Mayflower.

PEERAGE FOR JAMES M. BARRIE

London Paper Says Baronet Will Be Elevated by Laborites.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, July 16.—The Daily Mirror says Sir James M. Barrie, novelist, will be the next new Laborite Peer.

Sir James was in the lobby of the Commons yesterday talking to Scottish Socialist members, the peer said. He has never been connected with politics or shown any desire for Parliamentary or other public honors.

GERLING BEGINS DUTIES AS ACTING HEAD OF SCHOOLS

Supplants J. J. Maddox After Resigning Superintendency to Which He Was Appointed.

WAY LEFT OPEN TO KEEP HIM IN POST

He Is Expected to Recommend Predecessor for Some Such Place as High School Principalship.

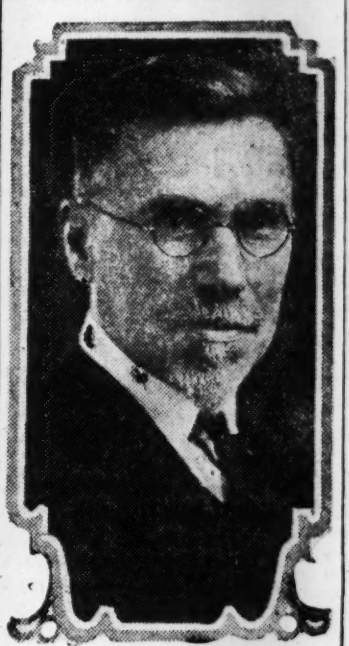

A committee of three members of the Board of Education is to be appointed by President Blumeyer, under a resolution adopted by the board yesterday after it had made Henry J. Gerling Acting Superintendent of Instruction, to seek as a permanent superintendent "the most eminent, scholarly and outstanding educator available."

The way has been left open for the board to decide to make Gerling superintendent for a four-year term, carrying out its original intention. He was elected to that place yesterday as anticipated, but resigned immediately and thereupon was made Acting Superintendent. His resignation, given because he wanted the board to take time to make a careful search for a successor to John J. Maddox in the superintendency, was a surprise to the public but seemingly not to the board.

Although Gerling delivered his resignation orally, he had copies of it ready for the press, and there were indications of a pre-arrangement by the board. When the board decided several weeks ago

GOURAUD LEADS U. S. VETERANS

French General and President Hoover Review Rainbow Division.

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Md., July 16.—President Hoover and Gen. Henri Etienne Gouraud yesterday reviewed the veterans of the Rainbow Division who, 11 years ago in the battle of the Champagne, crushed the last great German drive. At the head of the parade rode Gen. Gouraud, leading the veterans, for it was under his command that they broke the German line. When the head of the column reached the reviewing stand, the General joined the President and stood at attention as part of his wartime command swung past, his left hand rising and falling in salute, his armless right sleeve swinging in the breeze.

Col. John N. Mangan was elected president of the veterans and Col. Noble J. J. one of the vice presidents.

CHINA OFFERS TO NEGOTIATE WITH RUSSIA, SENDS ENVOY

Makes Answer on Last Day Allowed by Saturday's Ultimatum Following Railway Seizure.

15,000 MANCHURIAN TROOPS MOBILIZED

They Reinforce Chinese Border Patrols—Nanking Confident of Early Settlement.

By the Associated Press.

NANKING, China, July 16.—The Foreign Office of the Nationalist Government at midnight tonight cabled a note to the Chinese charge d'affaires at Moscow stating that a Chinese plenipotentiary was leaving Nanking for Moscow to discuss all pending matters with the Russian Foreign Commissioner.

At the same time it was learned tonight that 15,000 Manchurian troops had been mobilized within the past 48 hours to reinforce the Chinese patrols on the Russian border. Heavy concentration of troops was known to be taking place at Manchouli.

The Nationalist note stresses the friendliness of the Chinese toward the Russian Government and the Russian people. It states that unfortunately evidence that soviet Russian agents in Chinese territory have been spreading communist propaganda endangering the Chinese.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never vote to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Wheat and Hog Prices.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WAS born in 1868, and in those days the price of wheat and hogs was highest from November to March. The wheat speculators and meat packers conceived the idea that it would be better for them to reverse market conditions, and about the year 1890 began to pay more for wheat and hogs in summer than in winter. It worked. The farmers acquired the habit of threshing and marketing their wheat as soon as harvested, to get the highest price. This led to the disuse of granaries on the farm, and I will venture to say not a farmer in 100 has a place to store 100 bushels of wheat for a higher market, which conditions having again changed, is now in winter.

The hog market continues higher in summer, because the big packers want to get a big price for their meat in winter from low-priced hogs. Most farmers market their hogs from December to March, because they commence to feed as soon as the corn is fit to handle and before spring their corn crop is nearly all gone, not enough left to feed hogs for the summer market.

As for voting for relief, it makes no difference how you vote as long as Big Business interests can buy legislation that favors them. Do away with commissions and let the authorities of the states and cities manage affairs through the people we elect for that purpose.

The Jay Walking Ordinance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WILL you kindly tell us how we are to govern ourselves when this new Jay walking ordinance goes into effect on the ninth of August? My reason for asking is simply due to a car accident. I have kept on the traffic squad during the past two weeks, or since this thing has been under consideration. I have noticed that the traffic officers in our downtown district have the habit of changing the direction of the traffic just about the time the greatest portion of those walking reach the middle of the street. This is particularly the case at intersections like Olive, Pine, Locust on Fourth and the same corners on Broadway.

Let's have some instructions along this line or else have these traffic cops secure a few traffic lessons during the next 30 days, or better still, let's profit by the experience of Chicago and pass up this foolishness.

A RUBEN FROM CHICAGO.

Rejoinder.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is hard to reply to such a letter as that of Mr. Vitzelly with patience. He, apparently, is still vexed over a paper which I contributed to "American Speech" some three years ago, in which I called attention to some poor English on his part, and pointed out that many lexicographers were slow in admitting certain words to dictionaries. The example I took was "moron" and gave the definition found in an abridged dictionary published by Funk & Wagnalls for which Mr. Vitzelly was in part responsible. Why an abridged dictionary should have more right to give incorrect definitions than an unabridged is not clear.

Mr. Vitzelly indirectly accuses me of dealing in innuendoes, generalizations, sneering, and being afraid to strike. If giving an exact quotation with correct reference can justify these charges, then the meanings of the words should be changed in all dictionaries. In one, with Mr. Vitzelly's name on the title page, the definition of "innuendo" is: "An indirect aspersion; insinuation." It is evident that Mr. Vitzelly does not know the use of English or willfully perverts it.

Referring to his column in the "Literary Digest," he asks for particularizations. One will be enough for my purpose. Does he remember his definition of "Centigrade"? This was clipped and sent to the Literary Digest with a query but, as far as I observed, no correction or explanation was ever given. It is, of course, possible, though not probable, that the clipping misstated in the mail.

Inequalities of Enforcement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MRS. POST goes to prison because she did not have the money to pay off. The reason the vendors of hooch here in St. Louis do not go up is they have the money to pay off. If you do not believe this, ask them.

There is something very rotten and inconsistent in this prohibition enforcement propaganda. Why pick on a poor old woman with a lot of kids to support?

Now for the inconsistency. I can take you to six dozen saloons here in St. Louis that are selling the same stuff the old woman did.

Have you got a prohibition department of enforcement in St. Louis and St. Louis County? "Hells far No." I don't know who the chief prohibition enforcement is here. But I know one thing—I could beat him all hollow in enforcing the law.

Some of the saloons here have been open for the last 20 years. I have seen customers buy drinks for the cops in the vicinity. What is the excuse of allowing a saloon to remain in business when the only source of revenue is known to be hooch?

A JOKER.

MR. HOOVER MARKING TIME.

Almost daily the newspapers carry some expression of dissatisfaction, protest or objection to the pending tariff bill. Never before in the history of our tariff legislation have foreign nations been so outspoken. Home sentiment, too, has attained a new peak in mass emphasis. Meantime the Senate Finance Committee continues at its task of revising the Hawley schedules, but whether it is revising them downward or upward the public does not know. Does anybody outside of the committee know? Does Mr. Hoover know? We mention the President, for two reasons. First, no other individual in the world can be so vitally interested in this bill as he. His political fortune, his place in history, is in the balance. Second, no other individual has the power to shape the character of this bill which he possesses. With the public sentiment which he can muster with a word he can, we believe, compel the committee to comply with his instructions, carry out the party's pledge and his personal wishes for a limited revision as embodied in his message.

So far as the public knows, Mr. Hoover has spoken no word. He seems to be neutrally marking time. In our opinion that is a disappointing and dangerous policy for him to pursue. In his brief presidential tenure he has already had a costly experience which might well convince him as to the wisdom of this course. The Senate Committee on Agriculture, when drafting the farm relief, sought his views. He declined to interfere. The result was that the reported bill contained the export debenture provision, which precipitated a fight that changed the whole atmosphere of the situation at Washington, strained and, in some instances, broke important friendships and created estrangements which are likely to persist as liabilities throughout Mr. Hoover's official life.

The President's reluctance, at the very beginning of his term, to impose his views on Congress, his desire scrupulously to observe the traditional deadline between the Executive and Legislative departments of the Government, is understood and appreciated. But where Executive co-operation is sought by the Legislators surely it may, with all propriety be given, and, especially in an instance, where, if it is not given, a great popular expectation may be disappointed and a great public service defeated.

The conditions surrounding the tariff bill may not be identical with those of farm relief, but if ever presidential interference were warranted—while yet there is time to make such interference effective—the tariff bill is surely such an occasion.

As the Post-Dispatch sees it, Mr. Hoover's capacity for leadership is being tested. It may be argued that the power of the veto is his, by which he can void unwise legislation. That is an important power. Frequently it calls for courage. At least one President made his reputation largely by exercising that prerogative. But the veto, after all, is sort of negative virtue. It does not enlist either the vision or valor of that constructive leadership which charges into the battle, not to prevent blundering, but to accomplish the thing desired.

It would be nothing less than a tragedy for the Hoover administration to be scuttled at its launching by the rapacity of the tariff pirates. It would be a tragedy, not because of the political exit, historically speaking, of Herbert Hoover, but because of the grave economic consequences that threaten and the destruction of the peace prospects which the Hoover administration has already brought to bud.

In no spirit of hostile criticism but, rather, in a spirit of confidence in the President's hopes and purposes, we believe Mr. Hoover is sinning away precious days of grace while the Senate Finance Committee is secretly spinning this tariff web.

REFORM IN HOUSE-NUMBERING.

Now that the task of replacing old and illegible street signs has been virtually completed by the city, at a cost of more than $15,000, Director of Streets Brooks has taken up the matter of house numbers. Economies in mail and merchandise delivery costs could undoubtedly be effected by the use of clear, uniform numbers, in addition to the saving of time for anyone who tries to find a particular address in a strange neighborhood. All districts of the city have many buildings with poorly placed street numbers or none at all.

The results of a long investigation by Mr. Brooks' department are embodied in his suggestions, offered for criticism before an ordinance is drafted. Three-inch numerals, placed four feet above the floor level at the side of the door, are recommended in preference to numbers painted on the transom. Visibility at night is an important factor, however, and transom numbers should not be abolished until a better system is devised, since Mr. Brooks' search for a phosphorescent or other illuminated type of numeral has been without practical result.

A legible system of numbering should by all means be adopted. Both St. Louis and University City have handsome new enameled street signs, and finding one's way about would be made much simpler if house numbers were similarly improved.

The demand of fruit growers for a duty on bananas in order to force people to eat apples and oranges is pronounced by Senator Reed Smoot a "silly proposal." But if Utah produced apples and oranges in a big way Mr. Smoot might sing a different song—something like "Yes, we'll have no bananas."

BLUE LARKSPUR AND FACTOR X.

Blue Larkspur's victory in the American Classic over a heavy track make his admirers wonder what happened to him in the Kentucky Derby. It was the theory then that he didn't like the going, yet his time (2:14.25) for the American Classic was nearly four seconds more than Clyde Van Dusen needed to win the Derby, indicating the more difficult condition of the Arlington oval. The theory that Blue Larkspur does not fancy the mud, for that matter, was shattered by his victory in the Belmont Stakes, run on a track officially designated as "sloppy."

It is plain by this time that the son of Behave Yourself is of championship caliber on any kind of track and against any kind of opposition. He showed in the Withers Stakes what he could do on a fast track when he ran the mile in the dazzling time of 1:36, within 3.5 of a second of Cherry Pie's record performance in 1923. Perhaps but for Blue Larkspur's burden, heavier by five pounds than that carried by Cherry Pie, a new American record for the mile would have been set in the Withers.

All this, however, does not explain why Blue Larkspur suffered defeat in the Derby. If we could probe into a horse's consciousness, such an answer might be forthcoming as that Blue Larkspur was homesick on that day for the rolling sward of Idle Hour Farm. But these questions yield not to analysis, logic or insight. And it is the factor X, still present after the most exhaustive study of genealogical tables, past performances and feed box gossip, that, to quote the old rail bird, makes a horse race.

THE EAST-TO-WEST CROSSING.

While numerous flights have been made across the Atlantic from west to east, beginning with the epochal feat of Alcock and Brown, in 1919, the air journey from east to west has been fraught with tragedy. The latest attempts ended in the death of the Pole, Idzikowski, when his plane crashed on lonely Graciosa Island, in the Azores group, and the return of Capt. Diendonne Coste after he had reached mid-Atlantic.

Details of the Polish disaster are lacking, but Capt. Coste has given an excellent account of the difficulties he met. After a good start, the French plane ran into a wall of wind against which it was almost impossible to make headway, and then only at enormous consumption of fuel. Coste's normal speed of 125 miles an hour was cut to 50, but he did not give up the fight until the greater part of his fuel was gone. That made further struggle certain death, so he turned his ship for France, landing safely after nearly 28 hours in the air.

It is estimated by flyers that the west-to-east wind found in the North Atlantic in the summer makes the air voyage from Europe to the United States 800 miles longer than the west-to-east trip. Only one successful crossing has been made from Europe, that of Baron Huenefeld and his companions, Koehl and Fitzmaurice. They were bound for New York from Ireland, but were fortunate to land on a tiny island off the coast of Canada.

With Coste's story, it is easier to visualize the plight in which others found themselves. Nungesser and Goll disappeared without a trace in May, 1927; in August of the same year Capt. Hamilton and Col. Minchin, with the 62-year-old Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim aboard, met the same fate; in March, 1928, Capt. Hinchliffe and Elsie Mackay took off from England and were never heard of again. Several other attempted east-to-west crossings failed without loss of life.

The Graf Zeppelin, prepared to stay aloft for a long period, made the east-to-west crossing recently, but not without a desperate battle with the elements which damaged the ship so that, except for the bravery of the crew, it likely would have been lost.

Just now, with the collapse of two well-equipped expeditions, one is inclined to wonder whether east-to-west flights in heavier-than-air craft should not be abandoned. It is not the spirit of aeronautics, however, to admit defeat, and Capt. Coste typifies that pluckiness by announcing he is ready to try again. If he, fresh from a life-and-death encounter with the wind wall, feels that way, who shall say him nay?

A VARMINT AT LARGE.

The rating of "meanest man" has been claimed in the past for various miscreants who committed such paltry and wrath-provoking offenses as robbing babies' banks or holding up blind men. St. Louis now has an entry which should put an end to the competition—the unscrupulous petty swindler who presented an order purporting to be from the mother of a 16-year-old girl who had drowned, and collected $7.60 in wages due the girl from a 10-cent store. The same man—for surely there can't be two of these varmints abroad—by a similar heartless swindle got $17 earned at a factory by the girl's companion, a young man who drowned at the same time. In this instance his tactics were particularly nauseating, for he visited the youth's mother, passed himself off as an officer of the company, extended condolences and got her to sign the order.

This virtuous confidence man is still at liberty, perhaps awaiting another opportunity to work his swindle. Citizens are aroused to higher indignation by such a petty and heartless fraud than by crimes in which higher stakes are the motive. News of the trickster's arrest would be refreshing.

As things are going it will not be long before St. Louis husbands begin to talk to their wives about moving to East St. Louis.

KILOWATTS HERE AND THERE.

Electric power cost three times as much in the United States last year as it did in the Province of Ontario, Canada. The average American consumer paid 6.5 cents a kilowatt hour, according to the managing director of the National Electric Light Association. The price in Ontario, according to the latest report of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, was 2 cents a kilowatt hour.

The plan of operation by the publicly owned utility in Ontario was described in the Sunday Post-Dispatch. Readers of this paper are already familiar, in a general way, with the Canadian system, through the publication of findings by Senator Norris, who, in his long fight to save Muscle Shoals from private exploitation, personally investigated the Canadian plant. The latest article, however, shows in added and rather convincing detail, the advantages the Canadian consumer enjoys prospectively as well as at present. In Canada the people are developing an immense property which, at some future time, will be free of debt and in a position to furnish electric energy at still lower rates. As our correspondent observed, no theory of "reproduction new" or prudent investment enters into the question of determining rates for electric power in Ontario. There are no holding companies there to be nourished for hypothetical services and no intricate accounting to befuddle courts or commissions. The proposition there is to furnish electric power as cheaply as sound business policy permits. They seem to be doing an impressively good job.

We do not suppose that the Canadian atmosphere and environment are peculiarly adapted to the successful operation of publicly owned utilities. What may reasonably be assumed is this: public ownership and operation of public utilities will come, as surely in the United States as in Canada, if experience shows that that is the better plan. Tradition and sentiment cannot stand up against economic facts. It is a case of the survival of the fittest. In the matter of electric power, which business prophets regard as an economic Messiah, Canadian public ownership has American private ownership hanging on the ropes.

Canada bought almost $100,000,000 worth of goods from us in May. She also sold us a lot of stuff, for which the statistics have not been unkind.

BIG JOB FOR THE FARM BOARD.

Mass Production on the Farm

Thomas D. Campbell's operations cover 95,000 acres in Montana, using 52 tractors on night and day shifts; large scale on which ranch is conducted cuts down unit cost of wheat and flax and adds to profits; economic trend of agriculture may be forecast by this example, but chain farming, as conducted by Champaign (Ill.) bank perhaps is system possible of wider application.

Robert Stewart, in New Republic.

THE industrialization of the farm as a means of helping solve many of the problems of the farmer is being widely advocated today by many leaders of agricultural economic thought. The mergers of small productive units into large ones in industry has been an outstanding development in the past 75 years and one of the most important contributing causes of industrial prosperity.

A striking example of the success of the corporate type of farming is that carried out by Thomas D. Campbell, a trained engineer in Montana, who is now president and chief engineer of the Campbell Farming Corporation, which operates a farm of 95,000 acres of land in Montana, producing both wheat and flax. Forty-five thousand acres are in crop each year.

Campbell has successfully applied the idea of mass production in farming by the extensive use of power machinery. His plowing is all done by tractors and gang plows. He employs skilled labor only and the transient laborer has no place in his scheme. He has 52 tractors, which work in three shifts, plowing both night and day. He thus plows 1000 acres per day, which is a larger area than most large farms in the country. Fifty-eight per cent of the farms of America are less than 100 acres in size. The corporation owns and uses 100 seed drills capable of seeding 3000 acres of land in one day, thus insuring the planting of the crop at the right season for the best results. He uses both the combine harvester and the ordinary binder in the harvesting of his grain. There are 21 combines on the Campbell farms. The combine cuts, threshes and sacks the grain in a single operation, and the amount of human labor is reduced to a minimum. Two men only are required to harvest the grain by this means, whereas the old methods required from four to 10. With his combines, Campbell cuts and threshes 300 acres per day. The combine is growing in popularity wherever the size of the farm is large enough to permit its use. It is estimated that 45,000 combines have been released over 130,000 farm laborers for other types of work during the past few years.

The corporation also owns and operates 80 binders, which cut from 1500 to 2000 acres per day, and also 11 threshing machines which thresh about 20,000 bushels of grain per day.

As special investigator of farm lands on the Indian reservations for the Department of the Interior, Mr. Campbell early became impressed with the possibility offered by these lands for the production of wheat and flax on a large scale by industrial methods. It is true, to be sure, that the Campbell Farming Corporation is favorably situated as regards land rental. It is reported that the bare land is leased from the Department of the Interior on the basis of one-fourteenth of the gross returns. This is a very favorable rental. It must also be remembered that since this is Indian governmental land, the corporation pays no general property tax on it. The general property tax on land is what is actually advocated today by many sections of the country today. However, although Campbell is especially fortunate as regards taxation and land rental, he has also demonstrated in a very effective way the possibility of industrialized farming on a large scale.

Farming is not only a mode of life but a business, and if a business success is to be expected, business principles must be applied to the problem. The size of the farm is an important factor in determining success, and Campbell has demonstrated the importance of large holdings in reducing the unit cost of farm products.

Can advantage be taken on the ordinary farm of the lessons that his operations, carried out on an area of 95,000 acres, have taught? There are 6,443,342 farms in America, and 1,375,077, or 58.5 per cent of these, are less than 100 acres in size. How can these farmers be helped by the principles developed by Campbell on his enormous holdings? Undoubtedly some of these smaller farms will slowly be merged into larger ones, just as such mergers are taking place in industry, but great difficulties will be involved in the grouping of many of the farms into large enough holdings to take advantage of the reduced costs of Campbell's system.

Is it possible to develop a system whereby some of the benefits of expert management may be gained by the small farmer? Is it not possible to organize chains of small farms under one management so as to secure some of the benefits of large-scale production? This has actually been accomplished by a number of banks and trust companies throughout the country, particularly in the corn belt of the Middle West. Numerous instances might be cited to demonstrate the operation of this scheme. One will suffice.

A bank in Champaign, Ill., is responsible for the management of 32 farms near that town consisting of 7500 acres of land. This is a big unit of farming, but the family unit is also preserved on each of the 32 individual farms. J. J. Johnson, expert agriculturist, is employed by the bank as manager. The cost of this supervision amounts to only $1 per acre. Johnson, as manager, takes over the farm, maps out a plan which includes testing the soil for acidity, and planning a system of rotation and soil improvement. The productive capacity of the soil is carefully preserved and even increased on the farms under his direction. Before the bank took over the management, many of these farms were actually losing money. Under Johnson's supervision one farm of 320 acres has paid a net return of $19,620 in five years, or 6 per cent on the capital investment.

It may be that a system of chain farms such as this has wider application than that so successfully followed by Campbell on his mammoth holdings.

WASHINGTON, July 14.

HERE'S a tip to the hostess who has tea or an informal dinner on her own.

A center piece of fresh fruit is quite the thing. It is in vogue at the White House since the Hoovers moved in. Mrs. Hoover prefers this table decoration on informal occasions to flowers.

And when a mistress of the White House turns from flowers to other things for decorative purposes it is something to think about. There is nothing more pleasing than her supply of flowers. She has one to make her wishes known to get anything she wants, and in any quantity.

For, flanking the Mall just west of the Washington Monument are flower beds, greenhouses and plant nurseries that do nothing but care for the needs of the White House. There are 15 greenhouses alone. Three of these are devoted exclusively to carnations. All are found in the others.

More carnations are used at the White House than any other flower. It is the favorite flower for receptions, teas and garden parties. As high as 14,000 have been used for one official social function.

NEXT comes the rose—the American Beauty predominating. This was the favorite flower of the first Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Every day she would send orders to the White House gardener that bouquets were to be sent to different hospitals.

While not used so profusely as the carnation, the rose holds first place always at the more formal receptions. On these occasions the geranium plays an important part as a supplementary decoration.

Orchids are favored for special occasions, such as diplomatic dinners and the like. We are told that Mrs. Taft was perhaps the greatest lover of flowers and the most extensive user of them of any first lady.

Every day at 10 o'clock in the morning orders must be given to the White House gardener. Scarcely a day passes that production at the gardens was not exhausted and requisitions made on the Department of Agriculture greenhouses.

And the average production of the gardens during the whole Taft administration was 50,000 roses and 140,000 carnations.

THAT the flowers were a constant source of joy to her is evidenced by one paragraph in the book she wrote after she left the White House:

"For my first dinner as mistress of the White House I chose pink Killarney roses for table decoration, and it would be difficult to express the pleasure I felt in having just as many of them as I needed by merely issuing instructions to have them delivered. The White House greenhouses and nurseries were a source of constant joy to me. They are quite famous for their orchids, and this most extravagant of all flowers I always used for table decorations at diplomatic dinners."

Was plants of the most delicate and varied nature are grown in the gardens and large greenhouses is used for producing maiden-hair ferns of the most delicate texture for table use and room adornment.

THIS FICTION BUSINESS. By H. Bedford-Jones. (Covici-Friede, N. Y.)

THOUGH H. Bedford-Jones is anything but "realistic" in his fiction, he is exceedingly so in his discussion of writing as a business. Having observed that our civilization is above all, a vast selling scheme, he has no sympathy for those people who write for any other reason than to "make money"—and the more they "make" the better writers they are, in his view.

To the person who still thinks of writing in terms of "literature" (business of registering scorn), Mr. Bedford-Jones has nothing to say in his book of practical advice here noted. He is concerned only with those who frankly want to make a living out of writing. And to these he is able to speak with authority, for he himself has been remarkably successful in the fiction business. Writing under his own name and various assumed names he has published 40 books with a wide range of subject matter, and has written and sold as many novels, stories and hundreds of short stories for magazines. He has even made a "living wage"—"a living wage" is a phrase which he uses to describe the which is going some. Evidently he has a right to give advice to those who yearn to break into the fiction industry.

Just the same, it's a great pity that Mr. Bedford-Jones cannot share his ability with his readers, for he is an excellent story teller, and, lacking his gift in that direction, it is hard to see how the wistful ones who shall read his book can hope to make use of his advice. Surely, many a misguided person will be pitifully puffed up by much the author has to say.

"Can you write stories?" asks Mr. Bedford-Jones. "Of course you can." Anyone can write stories. The street car conductor writes stories. One of them got a Nobel prize for his work.

"But can you sell them?" Ah, there's the rub! But even this difficulty, it soon appears, can be overcome by most aspirants if they are willing to go about the business of writing in a thoroughly business-like way. "Get to work!" is the proper slogan.

Can you succeed without education? "Certainly it can be done," for it is being done by many. Mr. Bedford-Jones knows a number of whose stories appear continually in magazines and who have published several books. She has no education. Mrs. is the profession of democracy, brethren," he adds.

But how does one go about it? Simple enough. "First get it firmly in your head that this is only a matter of straightforward business." Shall we write about something we understand? "Arrant nonsense!" "Can a person who has lived in Madagascar write a better story about Madagascar than you can? According to rules, yes, according to actual facts, no! Not for a minute!"

There's one important point settled—one need not know anything.

"Can you write stories?" asks Mr. Bedford-Jones. "Of course you can! Anyone can write stories. The street car conductor writes stories. One of them got a Nobel prize for his work."

ANNE DOUGLAS SEDGWICK, whose latest novel is entitled "Dark Hester."

Now as to plot. Should there be any notion in one's head as to what one is going to write? No! "A good story needs no plot." This plot stuff is "absolutely bunk."

Then how does one write a story? First, you put your paper in your typewriter. Next you begin to write. If by this method you can produce stories that editors will buy in sufficient quantities to make you a comfortable living, then you are a successful writer. If you can't, why then it's just too bad.

"We don't give a hang for style," exclaims Mr. Bedford-Jones. "Four fiction writers know what it is or care. I believe that Harold Bell Wright should prove an inspiring example to every young writer, simply because he delivered the goods."

"What goods?" It is not the goods that we should consider—only the successful delivery.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bedford-Jones offers some encouraging moments to the eager reader. He points out, for instance, that unless you can turn out three 5,000 word stories each month you'd better quit. At one cent per word you will thus earn $100 a month, and maybe that's more than you are worth at any honest job.

NEW LEADING WOMAN

A HIT IN 'ROSE MARIE'

Carolyn Thomson Makes Pleasing Debut Before Large Audience in the Park.

ROSE MARIE, a musical play by Otto Harbach, with music by Rudolf Friml and Herbert Stothart. Presented by the Municipal Opera Company with the following cast:

Lady Jane.....Alice MacKenzie
Sergeant Malone.....Pierle White
Black Eagle.....David Andraus
Edward Hawley.....William J. McCarthy
Wanda.....Shirley Bowhan
Emile Le Flamme.....Truman Stanley
Hard-boiled Herman.....Florence Ames
Jim Kennedy.....Roy Cropper
Rose Marie.....Carolyn Thomson
Ethel Grander.....Grace Yeager

BEFORE another record opening performance crowd—the attendance climbed to a trifle over 9000—Carolyn Thomson, new, and hurriedly selected leading woman, made her debut with the Municipal Opera company in the always popular "Rose Marie" in Forest Park last night. Miss Thomson, who has sung the title role before with other organizations, proved to be a most acceptable addition to the company here. She has an excellent soprano voice and a charming personality. The large audience was immensely pleased with her work and gave her a hearty welcome.

This week marks the third time that the Harbach-Friml-Stothart musical play has been presented in Forest Park, and it holds the record for the amount of business done in a single week during the 11 years of Municipal Opera. From an artistic standpoint the present production, this week, is the best of the three.

Next to Miss Thomson's singing of the role of Rose Marie the high spot last night was the work of Sybil Bowhan in the part of the Indian girl, Wanda. Miss Bowhan "stopped the show" with her Tom Tom number in the first act and later in the evening repeated her triumph with a fan dance which was delightful.

Roy Cropper again did fine work in the leading male role of Jim Kennedy, and the duets which fell to him and Miss Thomson were enthusiastically received. Alice MacKenzie as Lady Jane and Florence Ames as Hard-boiled Herman were likewise pleasing, and Pierre White as Sergeant Malone did splendid work as the leader of the Canadian Royal Mounted men. The male chorus which supported him in the singing of the police number was at its very best and added much to the vocal and picturesque side of the play.

No need to tell the story of "Rose Marie" here, for more than a hundred and twenty-five thousand Municipal Opera theatergoers have already become familiar with the plot and the song hits, for it is one of the best, and most popular, musical shows in the repertoire of the Forest Park organization. It is to be followed, next Monday night, by an older favorite, "The Prince of Pilsen."

The success of Miss Thomson's first performance assures her continuance as prima donna. She will have the leading woman's role in "The Prince of Pilsen," and when "The Vagabond King" is produced during the week of Aug. 5, she will sing the part of Lady Katherine, a part in which she appeared during the New York run of the piece.

Out West Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

SOMEWHERE IN NEW MEXICO, July 15.

THIS sagebrush country was made romantic for me by Henry Rideout's stories of the drawing two-gun riders of the purple sage. Still I always find it depressing. Flat prairies scorch and wither in the baking sun. Heat simmers in slightly nauseating waves.

Here and there empty waste-lands are dotted with squat adobe houses and the dull red shanties to feebly blazing the Santa Fe trail to the Pacific. Yet it is the last stand of a picturesque and vanishing West. The calico pony makes way for the flivver. Lo, the poor Indian, in mail-order trappings, an incurable optimist or he never tried to open a train window.

NO where else has ice cream the rich and delicious flavor it has on coast trains. As an enthusiastic ice creamist I've sampled the best in many parts of the world. Train ice cream tops 'em all. It is the sort that, when you have eaten your fill, gives you a sneaking desire to rub a couple of orders in your hair, if any.

THE two most conspicuous books on the train are Sullivan's "Rattling the Cup" and Tarkington's "Young Mrs. Greeley."

ALBUQUERQUE is the New York of New Mexico. The depot promenade reveals a cosmopolitan flurry of flappers kodaking tourists, Indian squaws and puposes peddling primitive ceramics, boys with shellacked hair and little boys parading police dogs and a Russian Duke type with a glistening black beard.

NOSTALGIA NOTE: An Albuquerque cop drew me up so short in trespassing a grassy plot with my dog with his "Hey, you!" that I could have broken down in a good cry with homesickness. It was just like being in Central Park.

I N crossing this State you find yourself perpetually coated with a thin white desert sand. The spurs, boys! Here comes Old Alkali Mac.

The wedding of Miss Evelyn Marilyn Noonan, daughter of Mrs. Alice H. Noonan, 7300 Forsythe boulevard, and Norman H. Daut of Savannah, Ga., son of Mrs. Frederick Daut of St. Louis, will take place at 6 o'clock this evening at Our Lady of Lourdes Church. Father Craig officiating. Miss Myrtle Placke will attend the bride as maid of honor, and Erwin Werremeyer will be best man.

The bride will wear an afternoon gown of lightning blue chiffon with a tan felt and lace hat. Miss Placke is to wear a tan lace and chiffon frock with a felt hat to match.

A dinner at Hotel Chase will follow the ceremony, and afterwards Mr. Daut and his bride will depart for Savannah to reside. The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Specht of San Antonio, Tex., have returned home after a two weeks' visit with Mr. Specht's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Specht, 5953 Cates avenue.

SOCIAL ITEMS

MR. AND MRS. ROWE A. HARESCHE, 4650 Pershing avenue, have returned home after visiting Mrs. Gars, her brother-in-law, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gillette Hotchkiss of St. Louis, at their cottage at Pointe-aux-Barques, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Hotchkiss gave a dinner for the visitors last week at the Pointe-aux-Barques clubhouse. The guests included a number of St. Louisans, among them Mr. and Mrs. John Brodhead, Mrs. Robert Whittemore Knapp, Mrs. Leroy Miller, who is visiting the Brodheads, and Whitelaw Terry.

A number of St. Louisans are guests at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, Cal. Among them are Mrs. Frederick D. Gardner, 4508 West Pine boulevard, who will open her cottage at La Jolla next week; Mrs. Carrie Cook Prentiss, formerly of St. Louis, and her young daughter, Miss E. J. Prentiss, who have been making their home in California for several months; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Weisels, 709 Skinker road. Mr. and Mrs. Weisels will spend the remainder of the summer in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. W. Franklin Armstrong, 3100 Washington boulevard, will spend the early autumn in the East. She will depart early in September for New York and Atlantic City, and will spend part of the time with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Fallon DeLany, 5104 Lindell boulevard, are occupying their cottage in Douglas, Mich., for the remainder of the season.

Miss Loraine Grover, daughter of Mr. James Hamilton Grover of the Greystone apartments, with Mrs. John Burton Kennard Jr., 4937 Laclede avenue, and Mrs. Kennard's father, Mr. Charles Scudder of the Hampton Hall apartments, will leave St. Louis about July 26 for Minnecog, on Georgian Bay, Canada. Miss Grover will go to New York, Aug. 14, and will spend a few days in Chicago following their return from a several months' tour of Europe.

Miss Peggy Stewart of Martinsburg, W. Va., who is the guest of Miss Norma Engle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred N. Engle of Kirkwood, was complimented at a luncheon today which Miss Engle gave at the home of her parents. The luncheon table was decorated in African daisies. The following guests were present: Mrs. Donald Scott Sharp, Miss Irene and Miss Helen Hunter, Miss Margaret Pickers, Mrs. Southwood Bell Morse, Mrs. Robert Endres Meyer, Mrs. Robert Muckerman and Mrs. Oliver Winkler.

Miss Stewart who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wylie Crail in Atlantic City, will be the guest of Miss Engle several weeks. This evening the visitor will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Plantation, the out-of-door night club at the Garden Theater, to be followed by a theater party at the Garden Theater, for which Douglas Barclay will be host. Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Engle will give a small dinner for the guest at Sunset Hill Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Stegall, 4944 Lindell boulevard, are spending a few days in Chicago following their return from a several months' tour of Europe.

SPERBER'S HAIR SHOP

Recommends this 2-minute olive-and-palm-oil complexion care

S. A. SPERBER OF ST. LOUIS whose smart clientele consult him regularly regarding complexion care

Beauty culture has become an exacting profession today. The American woman relies on her beauty specialist not only for treatment but also for advice. And the average beauty specialist today has studied skin texture and the connection between health and beauty, between cleanliness and beauty.

The endorsement above, of one of the city's greatest experts, is in utter agreement with the advice on care of the complexion offered by Madame Jacobson of London, Institut de Beauté of Paris, and leading beauty experts of Berlin, Vienna, Geneva—twice-a-day cleansing with Palmolive Soap.

"The true basis of skin loveliness is the cosmetic treatment with olive and palm oils. Washing the face for beauty with Palmolive Soap prefaces all beauty treatments that I give."

S. A. SPERBER SPERBER'S HAIR SHOP

IT is strikingly significant that the leading beauty authorities of Europe and America agree on one basic beauty rule, a rule for keeping complexions radiantly lovely. They call it "foundation cleansing."

Not only in this city but in every important beauty center of America and every capital of Europe, today, the leading authorities advise a simple home treatment to keep skin beautiful. It is a treatment involving the twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap and water.

"Foundation cleansing" "Foundation cleansing," as advised by the great experts, is simply the daily elimination of pore-clogging dirt and dust, of rouge and make-up. And this is done most effectively, they find, by the bland, creamy lather of Palmolive Soap.

This internationally-used complexion soap, blended of oils of olive and palm, rids the skin of secretions—provides a basis upon which individual beauty treatments are found to be most successful.

In Paris, Mme. Cavallieri, after much study, adopted Palmolive for her clients' use as a home treatment. So, too, did Vincent and Massé—other long-established leaders. In Vienna, Pessl decided upon Palmolive.

Consult your own beauty expert. Follow her advice and this very day begin "foundation cleansing" with Palmolive Soap. A clear, radiant complexion will be your reward.

CHINA WILLING TO PARLEY, SENDS ENVOY TO RUSSIA

nese Government and its social system has been discovered.

For the maintenance of order the Manchurian authorities have taken over the Chinese Eastern Railway and closed the Russian Consulate in Harbin, the note explains.

An official spokesman for the Nationalist Government stated this afternoon that his government considered the strained relations between Russia and China over seizures of the Chinese Eastern Railway would be settled without great difficulty.

Moscow's note, turned in some quarters an ultimatum, is being telegraphed from Moscow to Nanking in four sections, three of which have already arrived, read a statement issued by this official spokesman. "The total wordage is 7000. Due to its extreme length it has been slow in reaching Nanking."

"The Nationalist Government considers the alleged crisis one comparatively simple to settle. The Nationalist Government is willing to settle the Chinese Eastern Railway questions by negotiations."

"The Government considers it necessary that the Chinese-Russian agreement of 1924 be faithfully carried out. The Soviet Government has never fulfilled the terms of the agreement."

"The Nationalist Government is willing to release its Russian prisoners if the Soviet is willing to release the Chinese imprisoned in Russia, where approximately 1000 Chinese are imprisoned."

Reports of Troop Movements on Frontier.

PEKING, China, July 16. — A censored telegram today from the Associated Press correspondent at Harbin, Manchuria, indicated Russian troop movements toward the Siberian border were already under way.

The censor deleted eight words, presumably at the beginning of the first sentence which, as received, said: "... through troops Siberia delaying trains."

The rest of the message read: "The railway's (Chinese Eastern) traffic from Pogradichaya to Vladivostok entirely stopped, since Saturday, possibly owing to floods. The Chinese Monday took over the Chinese Eastern land department. The Chinese official newspaper Kingpao claims to know authoritatively that Serebriakoff is coming to apologize to the Chinese Government."

Serebriakoff is a member of the Soviet Railway Commission who was commissioned to confer with the Manchurian authorities at Harbin on the seizure of the Chinese Eastern. He is said to have started to Manchuria in an airplane.

Messages received here through foreign sources today said 2000 Russian troops had crossed the Great Black River near Blagoveshchensk, Siberia, last Monday and a few days later attacked and destroyed a Chinese river steamer. Chinese soldiers were sent to repel the invaders.

This report could not be confirmed and was discounted by military observers.

Another Harbin report said that 70 armored motor cars and 100 armored motorcycles had been sent to the western frontier. The messages were said to have emanated from Chinese sources in Harbin and Changchun.

WOULD SEND HOME ENVOYS WHO BREAK TRAFFIC LAWS

WASHINGTON, July 16. — Senator Caraway, (Dem.) of Arkansas, would have all foreign diplomats who disregard Washington's traffic regulations sent home.

The Senator, who recently had the District of Columbia police prepare a statement showing how many diplomats had been accused of violating the traffic regulations, said he would ask the Senate to recommend such procedure.

The report of the police showed 24 diplomats and attaches had been stopped and warned of traffic regulations in 11 years, none being arrested because of their diplomatic immunity. The offenses for which they were halted ranged from minor infractions of the rules to driving while intoxicated and the list included several of Ambassadors and Ministerial rank.

Falling Tree Kills Plowboy.
DONIPHAN, Mo., July 16. — Melvin Miller, 9 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Miller, who live near Pine, was fatally injured yesterday when a dead tree fell on him while he was plowing corn at his father's farm. He was found unconscious half an hour later by his father and died while being taken to a hospital at Poplar Bluff.

to drop Maddox upon the expiration of his contract this month, after eight years of his superintendency, following a series of differences it had with him. It proposed to make Gerling Acting Superintendent. The board, however, was advised such an appointment would be illegal, as the law requires selection of an instruction head for a full term. Gerling has been an executive in the schools here for 30 years.

Accordingly, Gerling was appointed to a full term, but his resignation vacated that term and it became technically possible to make a temporary selection to meet this emergency. As Acting Superintendent Gerling will receive the regular salary, $11,000 a year. He assumed the position today.

On Loans

$100-$200-$300

The Household Finance Corporation has recently reduced its rate on loans of $100-$200-$300.

Borrow From Household at 2½% per month

For loans on which you have 20 months to repay, the cost is as follows:

Total Amount of Loan	Average Monthly Cost
$100	$1.32
$200	$2.63
$300	$3.94

Here's the plan

Loans are made to families, no outside signers required. A $100 loan is payable $5 per month plus interest. The first month, the interest charge is $2.50, but the last month it is only 13 cents. The average monthly cost is $1.32. Other amounts in proportion.

You get the entire amount—no fees or deductions. If you repay sooner than twenty months, total cost is less.

PREPARING TO MAKE MEDICINAL WHISKY

Government Arranging to Have 2,000,000 Gallons Made Annually.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 16.—Complying with the law that the Prohibition Bureau must keep an adequate supply of medicinal liquor available in this country, the bureau expects soon to announce the date on which distilling will be started.

The Treasury said yesterday that the bureau is now awaiting reports on the amount of whisky in bonded warehouses June 30 to get the date to begin distilling to replace medicinal liquor sold during the last few years.

The bureau places the annual requirement of medicinal whisky at 1,500,000 gallons and in June 30, 1928, there was on hand only 10,000,000 gallons.

The bureau said the present supply of medicinal liquor, approximately 3,500,000 gallons, would last only a little more than five years. As the bureau requires medicinal whisky must be aged four years, it feels that the distilling must begin this year to have a new supply on hand after the last of the old whisky is used. The bureau will select four or five distilleries to do the distilling. These will be chosen, it was said, from those which have the best plants for such manufacture. Of the new whisky to be manufactured, probably about 2,000,000 gallons a year, three-fourths will be bourbon and one-fourth rye.

NO DEATHS IN COLLAPSE OF MONTGOMERY BUILDINGS

Several Persons Hurt, Three Seriously in Crash in Alabama City.

By the Associated Press.
MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 16.—No casualties were apparent today from the collapse of two mercantile establishments. The workers, however, continued taking away the debris to guard against a chance that any one was entombed in the wreckage.

Several persons were injured, only three seriously, and property damage estimated at $175,000 was caused by the collapse of the two buildings housing the Bullock Shoe Co. and the Plitz-Smolian department store.

Between 75 and 100 persons were in the buildings when the walls buckled and collapsed yesterday noon, but enough warning was given of the impending collapse that the majority of them were able to reach safety. The seriously injured were George Degruy, and two Negroes.

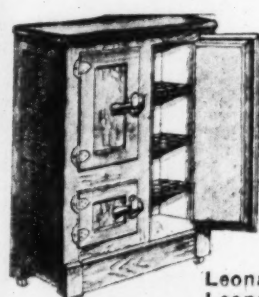

The two buildings adjoined a vacant lot where excavation work was in progress.

THE WAY OF A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall.

CASHING IN ON LOVE

PERHAPS we're a hopelessly impractical and unbusinesslike woman—but we get terribly tired of reading the accounts in the news of maids and matrons who put a cash value on love and do their damndest to collect in full. Such a merchant of romance is the girl who sues for breach of promise, and assesses in dollars and cents the value of her love letters, of her most intimate memories.

The woman enjoying even greater success in the use of a debase philosopher's stone—the stony feminine determination to turn love to lucre—is the childless, able-bodied, alimony-collecting wife, who, because a man has once loved her enough to marry her, considers herself justified in hanging about his neck like an old woman of the sea so long as they both live.

However, the most recent news of the financial profits in the tender passion concerns two record court awards for alienation of affections. In Brooklyn, a judge has directed a jury to return a $100,000 verdict to a wife who sued another woman for alienating the affections of her husband. In New Jersey, a jury voted $40,000 to another wife, who herself asked but $25,000 from the woman alleged to have stolen the love of a husband now dead.

WHAT do other women think of such dollar-deals in conjugal devotion? Our own first reaction, in reading of one of these demands for magnificent damages, is distinctly frivolous. We wonder how a woman can so flatter her lost, strayed or stolen spouse's ego. Why tell him (and the world) that he's worth so much to her? Why pin on his coat lapel a price-tag reading, "My $100,000 Prize?"

How much is a husband's love worth if, as and when it can be alienated? If you ask us—all of us—30 cents! Among the blessings that do NOT brighten as they take their flight is, in our opinion, any man who might have the bad taste to prefer some other woman to us.

We know, of course, that the motive behind the average suit for alienation of affections is revenge. The wife desires to punish her successor for seduction. It is an understandable if not a strictly Christian impulse. But do you know what may be a revenge far more subtle than a "love balm" suit?—It's this: A short, clever little note from the wife to the other woman, thanking her for taking over a man whom her marital partner had been wondering how she could possibly shake. No matter if the letter stretches the truth a bit, it will do its job of dirty digging! And it is utterly true that a husband loose enough to be lost isn't worth collecting damages on! Besides, if a woman knows love is love, how can she reduce it to money value? Didn't we all learn it arithmetic that the greater cannot possibly go into the less?

TALES THAT TABLES TELL

By Alma Zais.

WHEN our forefathers came to this country, the extreme simplicity of their lives was expressed not only in their clothes and manners, but also in all the household furnishings and in the appointments of their tables. So it is that often today the things that make the most enduring appeal to our aesthetic sense are those which are the simplest.

This is particularly true of our modern adaptations of colonial sterling. Its chaste lines and unassuming dignity make it appropriate and lovely no matter what the surroundings are.

But of course, when we want an exceptionally effective setting, we see that all the decorative elements of the dining room are in harmony. The delicate wall paper background of simple provincial design, the daintily glassware and linen damask cloth in Wedgwood pattern shown in the illustration are all in keeping with the colonial sterling. So are the chairs of colonial heritage and the exquisite old mahogany sideboard used in the room—and the old hooked rug, at important places give the guests the most hospitable touch, although we cannot see them in the picture.

In detail, a plain rich surface, and flowing, unbroken lines characterize the sterling used on the table. The pepper shaker has an accompanying low bowl for salt; the candlesticks are beautifully smooth and slender, and the low sterling bowl filled with sweet peas curves out at the lip with a graceful sweep. Even the sturdiness of the goblets contributes to the ennobling of the table. More appropriate than delicately etched glass would be on such a table.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

SYNOPSIS: Sir Richard's enemies respond gleefully to the opportunity of calling him slayer of his cousin. Even while his few friends staunchly defend him—among them the beautiful Helen D'Arcy, who, unknown to Richard, is in love with him—Richard's old military cloak, stained by Julian's blood, is found near the spot where Julian was murdered. Meanwhile, Sir Richard anxiously awaits Black Nick, a robber friend, whom he sent to the village on a certain mission. Nick is late and Richard worried.

Chapter Twenty.

ANOTHER WHIP.

SIR RICHARD and the Parson stood motionless, intent gaze resting on the door, pistols cocked and aimed. And, after some while, was a quick, light tread of feet and Black Nick appeared.

"Plague on't, Nick, but ye're late!" quoth Rob. "What's kept ye?"

Nick shook his head gravely. "The roads, Sir Richard, is all watched for you—south to the coast and north to London!"

"'Tis but to be expected," said Sir Richard.

"The justices seem mighty set on taking of ye—specially Sir John Parret. I took a peep at him through the judas—ah, and I heered 'em talk concerning a cloak o' yourn."

"Eh, Nick, a cloak, dy'e say?"

"Ay, 'twas cloak as 'twas found along o' your murdered cousin in the wood."

Sir Richard stared. "But I wore no cloak."

"How's ever, 'twas found there, sir—an old military cloak turned up w' scarlet."

"Why, I have such a cloak, Nick. I left it lying in the rose-garden at Wear."

"And what o' my ring?"

"Say there was no mention of it—John's heered nought of any ring, nor nobody else, as I could hear."

Sir Richard stared vaguely: "Pray, what manner o' night is it, Nick?"

"Fair, your honour, and with a moon. Friend, ye're never venturing abroad."

"Sir," protested Nick. "The country hereabouts is plaguey unhealthy for you, just now. There be constables coming from London. 'Tis Oldcraft himself is with 'em and—"

"Ha, Nick, lad, dy'e say so?"

A vicious blow with her whip—in the face of the man she loved.

cried the Parson in glad voice. "Why, here's joyful news—'tis in my mind that it ever Titus goeth back to London-town he'll go—feet foremost . . . in a box."

SIR RICHARD checked his horse and whistled; instantly from the shadow of a great tree rode a man. Sir Richard spoke in joyful greeting:

"Ha, Gregory, old lad!" and, leaping from saddle, he hurried forward, then halted suddenly.

"Richard!" said a soft voice, and into the moonlight rode my lady Helen, reining up her mare beside him, she leaned down, her handsome face seeming wonderfully gentle.

For a long moment he stood dumb and motionless, then he bowed, and, turning from her, seized Gregory's ready hand.

"Well, Greg, and how goes the world? Hast brought the money, Greg?"

"Twelve guineas, sir; 'tis all I—"

"S'heart, Greg, 12 guineas is a fortune—in the wilderness!" he nodded, "and so, good night to thee, old friend!"

"Ay, but—but," stammered Gregory, "will you not explain to us how . . ."

"Nothing, Greg! Were we alone I might say much; as 'tis—fare thee well!" And, bowing to my lady, Sir Richard proceeded to mount and ride away.

He had gone very little distance when, to his surprise, he found my lady beside him. So they rode awhile, neither speaking. At last Sir Richard pulled up, my lady did the same, and Gregory joined them; then Sir Richard spoke:

"Ma'm, you were better indoors at such hour. Be good enough to go your ways and suffer me to go mine." Whereat my lady shook her head and sighed.

SIR RICHARD set his horse to trot, my lady cantered her mare beside him and Gregory ambled behind. And, after some while, Sir Richard stopped again.

"He means to affront me, Gregory," sighed my lady. "Oh, 'tis an ill-conditioned, a very dullard that knoweth not his friends."

"Ha, madam, friends?" cried Sir Richard. "Here you behold friendship's sorriest victim!"

"Why wilt decry friendship, Richard?" she murmured, leaning towards him, wherefore he, very aware of her appealing beauty, scowled hard.

"Ah, Richard," she murmured in voice tender as cooing dove, "why didst ravish from me thy ring in manner so ungente?"

"Oh, ma'm," he answered harshly, "if talk you must, speak plain; what o' my ring?"

"You stole it from me in the lane that fatal evening."

"What said I? Smiled I or frowned I? How looked I?"

"You went masked and—"

"Masked! And yet you knew me?"

"Ah, yes!" she cried passionately. "And you rode in your old military cloak . . . And you whistled soft 'twixt your teeth!"

He laughed gently, and eyes and laugh stung her to flare of anger.

"Well, sir, are you dumb? . . . will you deny it?"

"No, lady, no! Heaven forbid I should question tale so apt, so purely convincing."

"Convincing, sir? You think—oh, do you dare suggest—that do you think—what?"

"Lady, my poor thoughts are mine own, what matter for 'em?"

"So—you think," sighed she in a dreadful gasping whisper, "you think—'twas I—murdered your cousin?"

Sir Richard was silent, and for a long moment they stared mutely.

"Oh—hateful!" she cried. "You would put off this crime—on me, . . . foul me with your kinsman's blood . . . how dare you so misjudge me? Speak, I say!"

"Ma'm," said he gently, "did you not threaten poor Julian's life more than once?"

"I . . . I threaten him?" she stammered, and uttering a strange, broken cry, she shrank away. "Ah . . . I mind me now! I did—Oh, I did!"

NOW beholding her swift abasement, he stared up at the moon again, stole a glance at her distressful figure.

"Madam," said he, at last, "I should not have spoke o' this, indeed I had not meant to. I do not reproach circumstance; indeed 'twas but natural suspicion should fall on me. 'Tis so my fate it seems, for I have lived suspect before and 'tis burden I'm well broke to."

A painful, gasping sob.

"Helen . . . forget, as I do—for I am thy friend now as ever . . . And, moreover, killing is sometimes justifiable and therefore no murder."

"Cruel! Oh—cruel!" she sobbed wildly. "To deem me such blood-guilty creature . . . a wretch vile enough to use your ring to such suspicions, I—!" Here my lady, being beyond tears, took deep breath and, while he stared, bewildered, reproached, denounced and reviled him until even words failed her at last and, she struck him with her riding-whip so heavily that his hat spun to earth.

(Copyright, 1929, Jeffery Farnol.)

The sting of Helen's whip leads Sir Richard to make a discovery in tomorrow's chapter.

An after dinner mint placed in the center of grape fruit when ready to serve it gives a delicious flavor.

A CHURCH WEDDING

WILL you please tell me what you consider the proper form to use in answering a formal invitation to a church wedding? The invitation contains the phrase "requests the honor of your presence."

2. As we know the bridegroom only, what will be the best form to use in congratulating them at the church?

3. Is it customary to send a present after such an invitation?

MRS. R. V.

1. Such an invitation—which is for the church ceremony only—does not require an answer. It is the invitation to the reception which reads "requests the pleasure of your company"—that requires an answer.

2. You will probably not have an opportunity of congratulating the couple at the church, for they will probably leave the church at once for the reception, if there is to be a reception. At the reception the word "congratulations" is used when you speak with the groom, and the expression "best wishes" is used to extend your wishes for happiness to the bride.

3. Whether or not we send a wedding present depends on whether or not we wish to. If we know the bride or the groom or both well, naturally we would wish to have something in the new home that will tell them of our friendliness and our wish to have a share in the new home.

WILL you please tell me how soon messages of condolence should be acknowledged?

A discussion has arisen regarding both of these formalities. A claim that in both instances the "thank you" letters should be written—in case of death, immediately after the funeral, and just as soon as the wedding gifts have been received. B argues that a week after, in either case, is a perfectly good form. MRS. D. J. P.

1. Messages of condolence should be acknowledged as soon as the person receiving them feels able to write the noting gifts have been received. B argues that a week after, in either case, is a perfectly good form. MRS. D. J. P.

2. The most punctilious brides-to-be write notes of thanks on the very day that the wedding presents are received. And wise they are, too, for this means that they do not have all these notes to write on the busy days just before the wedding.

I AM to sing at a church wedding to take place at 4 p. m. on a Sunday. The bridesmaids will wear blue. Will it be necessary for me to wear a hat also? What is the proper dress for me? Is an evening dress with matching slippers out of place? M. J.

You should wear a day dress with a hat. An evening dress with matching slippers would be inappropriate.

(Copyright, 1929.)

When you paint the floor remember it should be darker than the rest of the room and it should be inconspicuous to form a "nod" background for the rugs and furniture.

HIGHER WAGES FOR WOMEN

THE National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, in convention at Mackinac Island, Mich., July 8-13, will urge higher wages for women.

A survey, which was conducted by Miss Margaret Elliott of the University of Michigan among 14,000 working women, shows that a surprisingly large number of business women are supporting relatives. The information will be used as a reason for asking equality of wages in all lines.

Whether a woman can "eat her cake and have it, too"—in other words, keep house and hold down a job, will be discussed at the convention. This phase was also a subject of research in the survey.

Round table discussions, designed to be of special benefit to the various occupations represented by delegates, will occupy considerable time. The chief speaker on the general program will be Dr. Maria Castellani of Rome. She will tell of the progress business women are making on the European continent.

Miss Lena Madeson Phillips of New York is president of the federation. Miss Marion McClench of Detroit is chairman of the General Convention Committee.

The federation's aim is to help the younger generation find itself in the business world. Older women who have gone through the hard knocks of pioneering want to save their younger sisters from the discouragements of "milk" jobs. To this end a large scholarship fund has been established to help young women achieve education along the lines they desire.

A vocational index of the $2,000 members of the federation now is complete.

LOOKING BACK.

LOOKING back, as I grow old, I can see my course unfold. Rivers bending, turning, Marsh lights gleaming, turning, Mountain summits white and cold.

Ways that were all dark to me As I trod them, now I see Robbed of one-time sadness, Blossom into gladness, Changed to joyous ways, and free.

Viewed through time's bright miles of gold, As a tale that now is told, Life seems sweet and tender, Strangely filled with splendor, Looking back as I grow old.

Potatoes O'Brien. Two cups diced cooked potatoes, one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon salt, one-half cup skim milk, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one green pepper cooked and chopped, one-half cup grated American cheese, one-half cup bread crumbs. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and seasoning. Mix the potatoes, pepper and cheese into the white sauce. Put in a baking dish and cover with the bread crumbs and bake until nicely browned in a hot oven. Canned pineapples may be used instead of the green pepper if preferred.

The Latest News and Gossip of the Stars in the Daily Magazine of day and Thursday and in the HOLLYWOOD, July 16. IN the summertime under the stars, Hollywood forgets the grind of the camera and journeys out to the Hollywood Bowl with blankets and cushions to enjoy the symphonies and the stars.

The concert opened this week, and will continue about two months. Bernardino Molinari, the Italian conductor, will lead the master's band for the first two weeks, after which Eugene Goossens will direct. Both of these men spent last year with the symphony and are to be there again next winter. At the opening night of the concert, a number of screen notables passed, proving that they enjoy good music like the rest of the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Nagel, who are patrons of any civic or artistic movement seemed to enjoy the concert to the utmost. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks were in a nearby box. Charles Chaplin, Ramon Novarro, Janet Gaynor, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Soussan—Mrs. Soussan is Balcónova in her stage play—Charles Wakefield Cadman, the composer, and Rupert Hughes. There were probably many others who would have gone if they hadn't been out at Culver City watching the two oil-spattered and bewildered boys stay up in the plane in the endurance test. Hollywood is wildly air-minded and folks rush off the set and out of the offices to stand around in the airport getting the roots of their mouths sunburned and half way hoping they would be there when the boys land. Will Rogers sent them a Christmas card.

DENNIS (VAGABOND) KING has arrived in town. This means that the spectacular singing and talking film version of "The Vagabond King" is soon to go into production. He has just completed the starring role in "Three Musketeers" on the stage. King was born in England and his first stage experience started as a call boy for John Drinkwater. Enlisting in the army during the World War at the age of 16, he played his first big role at a charity performance while on furlough—"As You Like It." Later he came to America to play "Monte Carlo" and has remained here ever since, starting in many productions. And as for the theatrics—because you will hear a lot of shouting about Dennis in the next few months—he is slightly over six feet tall, has blonde hair, blue eyes, a ruddy complexion and a singing voice that has carried him to the foremost pinnacle of success on the musical comedy stage. And for the gentlemen, Jean MacDonald, musical comedy star, has the leading feminine role. She will not go back to New York as she originally planned. She was so good in "The Love Parade" which is just finishing up with Maurice Chevalier that Paramount decided to put her under long term contract.

AFTER six years of releasing under the First National banner, Colleen Moore is about to make a change. Her contract has expired with this studio, but Colleen, who is said to be the hardest working girl in pictures, is not going to stop working. Her latest picture, which is a just being finished is "Footlights and Fools" in which she talks like a Frenchman. Prior to that was "Smiling Irish Eyes" which speaks for itself as far as the versatile Moore's nationality goes. When she will go now, those in the know have not divulged. Personally, I wouldn't be surprised to see her under the mountain and stars of the Paramount banner.

ROD LA ROQUE had a mad idea the other day and was all of talking pictures. He is making "The Delightful Rogue," RKO with a stage corner, Rita Roy, opposite him. The set was pirate's cabin, and it was a pseudo-adventure scene, which pulled the rug on his delightful rogue, who in the mean time is cursing talking pictures and is not to persevere. After the "cut" Rod came over to tell that his wife, Vilma Barry, just left St. Louis and reported a lot of hot weather, and that stage is one thing and screen is another, and why they try to make them beyond him, and that is absolutely his last picture which states that he is with a train or two of salt.

"I like comfort too much, there is absolutely no comfort, romance, no ease—nothing to deem the talking pictures, of the actors' angle," said Rod.

I have heard many picture people lately say they were going into vaudeville. I wonder if that is to be the safety valve for the talkies?
Buddy Rogers is in Chicago now making a personal appearance, but he is doing that because he wants to, and has no intention of quitting pictures, until as he says very naively, pictures quit him. Then he wants to take a band out and hit the two-a-day to his heart's content. In the meantime, during Buddy's absence, folks are teasing June Collyer about being a Chicago widow. June has made five pictures since the first of the year, which is turning them out with a will.

SEEN and heard around the lots: James Gleason and Bob Armstrong who started together in "The Ziegfeld Follies" and together again, playing the roles of brakeman in a Pathe picture
"Oh Yeah". They spent the Fourth of July in the railroad yards at the Union Pacific having carloads of sawdust dumped in them which is nobody's idea of a way to spend the jolly Fourth.
But the story called for such antics, and Jim and Bob are willing to do it. That sawdust for the rest of their lives for the dear public. . . . Maxwell Anderson who wrote "Saturday's Children" and who was co-author of "The Big Parade" has blown into Hollywood to adapt the new war story,
"All Quiet on the Western Front," for production by Universal. . . .
Margaret Livingston who does a lot of swell vamping, yet who seems to never have gotten a very good break on the screen, has been signed by Universal. . . .
Red Grange is to do another picture, but he had better stick to football. . . . Warner Brothers are going to give us sister acts until somebody starts a crusade against them. They have cornered practically all of the famous sisters of filmdom to appear in special acts of the "Show of Shows". . . .
Dolores and Helene Costello,
Alice and Marceline Day, Viola
Dana and Shirley Mason, Loretta Young and Sally Blane are mentioned. . . . Leave it to the talkies to use a dozen where two would suffice in the stage. . . . John Barrymore has taken his wife, Dolores Costello, on a vacation cruise in the Pacific. Barrymore has just finished "General Crack" for Warners. . . . Both will be returning in a week to resume work in their forthcoming individual starring pictures.

SOMETIMES it is cause for wonder that movie companies go so far out of their way and into their pocketbooks to cater to visiting stars in the way of studio accommodations, while their regular stars and palar standbys must struggle along with mere bungalows and cottages in which to while away the tedious spare studio hours.

Fox builds Will Rogers a nice hacienda at Movietone City, and now Universal constructs a great rustic clubhouse, fit for a royal cortege, for the use of Carl Laemmle's "King of Jazz"—Paul Whiteman, and his band boys.
Paul himself, of course, besides has his own studio bungalow.

After the Whitemans have completed their one picture for the "U," the clubhouse no doubt will welcome another visiting celebrity, or be put to practical studio uses.

H is a good thing that the Warner publicity staff can boost him there. Ami-ose, in "Under a Texas Moon," plays a considerable part, that of warning Frank Fay, the hero, of all approaching danger.

A regular series of stories, interview, adventures, "gags" and whatnot satirizing the usual Hollywood publicity line is being prepared for the stardom campaign.

The Intimate DIARY Of Peggy JOYCE

She Embarks Upon Her Ultimate Career of Matrimony—And Fails To Find it a Success.

By Peggy Hopkins Joyce

This is a picture of Margaret Upton when she was twelve years old. Margaret is the "ugly duckling" who grew up to be pretty Peggy Joyce.

WHAT PEGGY TOLD YOU BEFORE—My life really began yesterday when I met Mr. Huertin but when a person runs away from home she really hasn't time to begin a diary. As I write this I am speeding away towards my future. I'm going to be a great Actress some day Mr. Huertin says because I am so pretty. Mr. Huertin is the world's greatest Cyclist and when he was in Norfolk where we lived I asked him to take me with him because I wanted to be an Actress. He said if I really wanted to go I should meet him at the railroad station the next morning.

So I did and now we are on our way out West.

CHAPTER II.

FRIDAY. I can only write a few lines now because we are opening tonight and I am so excited I can hardly think so how can I write? Mr. Huertin says it is only natural and every Great Actress has been excited and nervous before her first Appearance, but he says he is sure the Act will go good because I am so pretty and the Public will like me.

I am not to ride a bicycle at first not until I have learned some tricks but I am to wear a little costume with Tights, they are the first Tights I have ever worn and they feel funny like long underwear but Mr. Huertin says I look wonderful in them because they show off my figure. He says, any of these Johns come back stage or bother you just give them the ice and let me know I'll send them about their business.

Salt Lake City is grand, it is a large city with very wide streets and it is very confusing because our hotel is on West Second Street North and unless a person has a compass she may walk the other way and land at East Second Street South which is what I did. But the main street which they spell Meign is very wide and the buildings are all made of stone and very handsome. There is a Temple that the Mormons built, it took them 200 years Mr. Huertin says and it isn't finished yet. Gee I bet we could do it faster than that in Virginia. Dear Virginia I think of you often all these Thousands of miles away from you and I will Come Back some day when I am Famous.

I have sent a picture card to Mother but I said I was on my way to San Francisco with a Show so they will never think of looking for me in Denver where we go next Thursday night.

WEDNESDAY. I have not written in my diary because I have been ill with a toothache and I have had Trouble. Mr. Huertin took me to a Bathing Beach called Saltair near here, it is on the Coast Salt Lake and you cannot sink in the water because it is so salt. I did not believe this at first but it is quite true. So I jumped in where it said 4 ft., I am 5 ft. 3 in., but my feet would not go down and I kept turning round and round and swallowing water until Mr. Huertin pulled me out. The water was terrible it was so salt and on the funny little train all open-air going back to Salt Lake City my tooth began to ache and I was miserable. Mr. Huertin said I must see a dentist and he pulled out a tooth and Mr. Huertin paid him 1 dollar then the dentist said, if it hurts just take a drink of hot salt water and hold it on the tooth, I could have killed him I was so mad.

So that night I said I could not come to the Theater and Mr. Huertin was very annoyed and said, if you are going to be a Great Actress you must never miss a show, not even if your heart is Breaking. But I was so sick and I went to bed and Mr. Huertin went out and did the Act alone. When Mr. Huertin came back he woke me up and said, The Act went great I guess I don't need a Girl who stays away just because she has Toothache, I will send you home. So I said All right I will go home I hate you and I cried all night, but this morning Mr. Huertin was kind and said he didn't mean it he was just mad.

We have had a Success here, the newspaper has written us up, the Desert News which is the Mormon paper said, Jack Huertin and a winsome little blonde girl thrilled the audience with a combination of Beauty and Talent. So I said, Why don't you put my name on the Program so the Critics will know who I am and Mr. Huertin laughed and said, Gee, Kid you sure are learning fast, we will put your name down when you know a few Tricks. He is teaching me how to stand still on a Wheel, it is the first thing you learn but it is very difficult.

I saw two men on Meign Street this morning with beards I am sure they were Mormons, but they did not see me because I crossed the street and the street is so Wide.

FRIDAY. I have met a man who is too good-looking for words, he is very tall, more than six feet and has thick wavy blond hair and he is awfully well-dressed. He is not a Mormon and anyway we are not in Salt Lake City any more but in the train for Denver. I have a Lower Berth in the Pullman, Pullmans are wonderful and so restful and I saw Mr. Archer on the Observation Platform. The views are wonderful, all mountains and I kind of wanted him to talk to me because the scenery made a person breathless and sort of alone and anyway he was like the scenery, big and handsome. So I said, Colorado is wonderful isn't it and he looked at me and smiled and he has wonderful teeth and he said, Yes, it's my home state, I live in Denver, my name is Everett Archer, what's yours? So I told him and he bought some sarsaparilla and then he told me he would rather look at me than the scenery because I was so pretty and anyway he was used to the scenery because he had been born in it. I think Mr. Archer is grand, he is one of those Big Rugged Strong men and he is very rich because his father is the Borax King of America and owns all the Borax Mines which is the mineral they put in washing soap.

Mr. Huertin has met Mr. Archer and likes him and he makes fun of us and says, Well, how is your Great Big Man from the Wide Open Spaces, has he bought you a diamond bracelet yet? Which of course is silly because they do not sell diamond bracelets on trains and anyway I would not accept such an expensive gift from a man unless he was my Husband.

I think Mr. Archer would be a wonderful husband but of course I would not marry him even if he did give me a diamond bracelet because I have my Career to think of, I wonder what it would feel like to fall in love with Mr. Archer, he says, Call me Everett, but I told him I could not be so familiar because I have not really known him long enough, only since 9 a. m. this morning.

SATURDAY. I have married Everett Archer and my name is no longer Miss Margaret Upton. It is Mrs. Everett Archer, wife of the Borax King's son.

Just as we were getting off the train at Denver Everett said, Peggy darling, I love you. I fell in love with you at first sight, I want you to marry me. Of course I replied, Why, Mr. Archer don't be silly, I have only known you since this morning. So he said, What difference does it make how long you have known me when we love each other? Which of course was perfectly true but I said, I will have to ask Mr. Huertin. But Everett said, why do you have to ask him, he isn't your father is he and besides he might say No? So I did not ask Mr. Huertin but went to the Court House of the city hall and we were married.

It is exciting being married but I am scared at this big house and Everett's parents who shook hands and pretended to smile. And they said, you will want to dine in your room because you must be Tired, because I suppose they wanted to talk over the Marriage and decide what must be done. So I am sitting in this big room which is Everett's and even has its own bath. I feel very frightened and scared and excited. I hope Everett will be kind to me, I could not bear it if he was not kind. He is going to buy me my engagement and wedding rings tomorrow at the best jeweler in Denver.

Tuesday. My heart is broken, it is all over. Oh God why wasn't I told marriage was like this? I hate men.

EVERETT came to the Theater where I have gone back to Mr. Huertin and he has pleaded with me to forgive him because he says he loves me and he says, I can't understand you, you are my wife and I love you, won't you come back? But I said, I hate you and I never want to see you again.

Mr. Huertin is very scared, I have confessed and said I have my mother and grandmother at home and he has canceled all his "s" and is taking me tomorrow back to Norfolk. He says if he doesn't he may be arrested and that makes me even more miserable because Mr. Huertin has been wonderful to me, just like a father.

Wednesday. I have said Good-by to Everett, he was quite nice and kind but I was crying and shaking so I could hardly speak. He said, Dear, you are just young that is all and when you think it over you will know I love you and come back to me.

We are going to Norfolk, Mr. Huertin is very kind but he does not say much and makes me lie down all the time, he has bought a Pullman which I think was wonderful for him to do and he has bought me some chocolates, but I cannot eat them I am too sick I wish I could die.

Mother will kill me. I am through with men forever.

When next Miss Peggy writes in her diary two weeks later she is convalescing from a nervous breakdown at home in Norfolk.

MONDAY. It is a long time since I have written in this diary, quite two weeks, but I have been too tired and sick to write. The doctor has given me a book of poetry by Longfellow and says if I will read them they will be better than a tonic, but what did Longfellow know of the way a girl feels when her life is ruined?

Trust no future, however pleasant. Let the dead past bury its dead! Act, act in the living present! Heart within, and God overhead!

It is all right for a poet to write that but when a girl has a present like mine she must put faith in her future because it is the only thing she has. But I like it where he says,

Thou shalt know ere long.

Know how sublime a thing it is To suffer and be strong.

Because I know that I am stronger now that I have suffered. Experience has taught me what life really is and what men are, and has strengthened me to resist them.

WELL Mr. Huertin brought me back and came straight home with me and would not let me say a word but told everything to Mother and Granny, and Granny was furious but I told her how wonderful Mr. Huertin has been to me and how he had bought me the chocolates and a Pullman and never been disrespectful in the slightest, so finally she shook hands with him and thanked him and Mr. Huertin went away after shaking my hands and wishing me Luck. Mother cried and put me to bed and really Mother and Granny have known how sublime a thing it is To suffer and be strong.

Because I know that I am stronger now that I have suffered. Experience has taught me what life really is and what men are, and has strengthened me to resist them.

Household Inventions

Closed by a sliding fastener, a thin rubber cover to protect hostelry from rain and mud has been invented by a woman resident of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

A school teacher is the inventor of a carrying case for a portable typewriter that can be extended to form a serviceable table for a machine.

A tube of shaving cream serves as the handle of a new shaving brush.

An electrically operated safety razor has been designated to enable women to keep their hair trimmed without danger of cutting themselves.

For use in clothing a Massachusetts woman has invented a material made of paper that can be washed and ironed and is tougher than leather.

Women Stumped By Grocers' Test

BRITISH women struggled long for the right to vote, and they are fighting now for equality with male workers in civil service and other vocations.

But they don't want to be grocers.

The Institute of Certified Grocers, which registers persons qualified to deal in kitchen staples, if they can pass a stringent examination, reports that the number of women in the trade has been dwindling steadily since the end of the war. Of 200 candidates who appeared for a recent examination only one was a girl.

What the candidates had to do to pass this test was to:

1. Identify unlabeled samples of Java, Ceylon, Assam, Darjeeling, Kintuck, Lapsang-Souchong and other varieties of tea.
2. Call out the name of any cheese brought into the examination room.
3. Tell whether a handful of cloves came from Zanzibar, Amboyna or Penang.
4. Judge from the appearance and flavor of preserved peaches where they were grown and where canned, also how much duty had to be paid on them.
5. Distinguish properly 17 varieties of bacon.
6. Grade butter and margarine without guessing.
7. Roast several samples of coffee and then tell which berries came from Kenya, which from Costa Rica and which from Mocha and Java.

A lump of orris root in the boiler on wash day will give a delicate fragrance to the clothes.

Main Trend of Security Market Appears to Be Upward but There Is Intermittent Selling.

CALL MONEY RATE DOWN TO 8 PER CENT

Steel Trade Reviews Favorable—Views on Technical Position of Market Considered Factor in Trend.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 17.—Call money dropped from 12 to 8 per cent and wheat prices soared 8 to 9 cents a bushel but the stock market still showed signs of irregularity although the main trend appeared to be upward. A widespread belief that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the rapidity of the recent advance in many issues, coupled with fears of a large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans this week, brought intermittent selling into the market.

Call Money Easier.
Although call money was distinctly easier, and in much more plentiful supply, yet time money marked continued firm, with some maturities again quoted as high as 8 per cent, as contrasted with 7½ last week. Fresh imports of gold from Argentina were regarded as a bullish development but this was offset by the increased amount of currency in circulation as a result of the popularity of the new-sized bills.

There was little in the day's news to influence the price movement outside of the sharp rise in rail prices and the drop in oil money. Trade reviews continued favorable, and most of the current earnings reports continued to make excellent comparison with the corresponding period last year.

Steel Trade Reviews Favorable.
Weekly steel trade reviews continued favorable. Iron Age reports that notwithstanding the reduced volume of buying of some steel products, notably cold-rolled strip and some grades of sheet, on which production has caught up with the demand, the steel industry as a whole has felt no marked curtailment in general consumption.

The Iron Trade Review emphasizes the heavy railroad equipment orders placed this week, stating the Great Northern has bought 30,000 tons of rails, and the Northern Pacific and Pennsylvania each 15,000 tons.

U. S. Steel Is Down.
Selling pressure was particularly acute against some of the recent favorites such as American Can, U. S. Steel common, Consolidated Gas, Wright Aeronautical and General Electric, the declines in which ran from about 2 to 3½ points. Fox Film fell back sharply on the news that the head of the company had been injured in an automobile accident, but recovered part of its loss.

Commodity Prices Spurt.
All leading commodity markets pointed upward. Cotton rallied 32½ to 33 a bale on reports of boll weevil infestation. The sharp rise in wheat was based on a bullish Government weather report and continued absence of rains in the Canadian belt. Corn rallied about 3c a bushel.

Except for a further rise of nearly half a cent in Japanese yen, which were quoted around 46½c, there were no changes of interest in the foreign exchange market. Sterling Cables held firm around $4.85 3-16.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on Pages 36, 37, 38 and 39.
